12 Persons Killed in Crash Of American Airliner

Premier Is Given Decree

Is Told He Must Change Setup

Saigon, South Viet Nam, March 21 (AP)—South Viet Nam's private religious armies and special interest groups today gave Premier Ngo Dinh Diem five days in which to reorganize completely his American-supported government.

The sects served their ultimatum on the Nationalist Premier in Indepedence Palace. If he fails to shake up the cabinet, they will "make an appeal to a decision of the people," a spokesman said.

The demand was signed by seven religious, military and private interest leaders in the name of "The United Front of Nationalist Forces." Some members of the group said privately an attempt might be made to overthrow the Premier by force if he balked.

THE FRONT ASSAILED Diem personally in a declaration read to correspondents. It accused him of totalitarian policies and favoring his family with government plums, singling out his brothers for special criticism.

The ultimatum declared that "the people demand the unification of all Nationalist Forces in the fight for the salvation of the country." It called for "a healthy democratic government of national union.

The ultimatum was agreed upon at Tay Ninh, the Cao Dai religious capital yesterday. It was signed by the Cao Dai "Pope" Pham Cong Tac, and Cao Dai Gens. Trinh Minh The and Nguyen Thanh Phuong, and by Hoa Hao Gens. Tran Van Soai, Lam Than Nguyen and Le Quang Vinh.

RECEIVING FOREIGN newsmen yesterday at a hideout 10 miles below Long Xuyen, the 31-year-old, one-armed Hoa Hao general asserted Cabinet Minister Gen. Tran Van Soai had named him to lead the combined forces of the religious sects against Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Soai, the Hoa Hao military chief, is expected to lose his cabinet post for this defiance.

Bacut's name is Le Quang Vinh but he is better known by his nickname, which means one-armed in Vietnamese. He sneered at reports the government had ordered nine battalions and one airborne brigade to hunt him down.

Bacut said he now commands some 7,000 tough troops of the Hoa Hao sect. He boasted he would throw them across the main routes leading into Saigon, cutting all supplies from that city of two million.

Bacut said the Hoa Hao, Din Xuyen and Cao Dai sects had agreed on an all-out fight against Diem on grounds he was inept and playing into Communist hands.

The sects' main grievance against Diem is that he has refused to take care of their private armies, whose revenue was cut off by the French in February.

Stassen Expects Some Aid Plan

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Director Harold Statten told employes of the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) today that the Eisenhower Administration will have some kind of foreign aid agency after June 30 when FOA is due to expire.

Stassen said he could not predict what Congress might do about FOA—that it might be transferred to the State Department as a semi-autonomous unit, or it might be continued as it is now. But there will be some kind of program, he added.

Stassen also said that career employes naturally would get preference in any new set-up, but made no promises about jobs or layoffs.

FOA has 6,731 employes. Of these, 1,657 are in Washington and the others are overseas. The overseas employes include 2,770 Americans and 2,304 foreign nationals.

STASSEN CALLED an assembly of the agency's Washington employes and made a brief talk about future prospects.

He said he knew the employes, from reading their newspapers, were aware that President Eisenhower appointed him Saturday as a special assistant with cabinet rank to study disarmament problems.

Nevertheless, Stassen said, he will stick with FOA until Congress decides its future.

In an ABC radio-TV interview yesterday, Stassen asked the public to send him suggestions on how he should approach his new job. He said:

"This is the search for ideas that mankind will have better hope for peace. It is the kind of matter in which you must never give up hope . . . even in a nuclear age."

Ulster Voters Favor School

A proposal to erect an elementary school in Union Free District No. 8, town of Ulster, was approved by a vote of nearly five to one on Saturday.

A bond issue of $800,000 was authorized by the voters to finance purchase of a 19-acre site and construction of a kindergarten through Grade 6 school on Albany avenue extension opposite the Ulster Hose Company firehouse.

Voting was for two propositions. The first, authorizing acquisition of the land, was passed by a vote of 292 for, 61 against and 18 void. The second proposition, authorizing construction of the school, was adopted by a vote of 283 for, 69 against and 19 void.

A total of 371 votes was cast.

The proposed building is being designed by Architect Albert E. Milliken of Kingston, who is associated with the firm of LaPiere, Litchfield and Partners of New York.

Says Crime Increases

New York, March 21 (AP)—The chief of New York's subway police says crime is on the increase throughout the transit system and he needs double the present police force to deal with it. Capt. Matthew J. Hughes, commanding officer of the Transit Police Bureau, said yesterday he needs 1,228 men to patrol subway and elevated lines. There are now 537 men on the force, but it is scheduled to be boosted to 852 next month. Hughes said offenses committed throughout the transit system "are of the type that can be prevented by effective uniformed patrol supplemented by an adequate plainclothes squad."

Body Is Identified

Catskill, March 21 (AP)—The body of a man recovered from the Hudson river yesterday has been identified tentatively as Thomas Stewart, 65, of Albany. Stewart had been missing since Dec. 15. Dr. Mahlon Atkinson, Greene county coroner, was investigating.

Dates Are Eliminated

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 21 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron crossed five religious dates off Argentina's list of national holidays by decree today. He said the holidays were reduced because of the necessity of increasing the nation's production. But the decree coincided with renewed tension between the Peron regime and the Roman Catholic Church. The holidays eleminated were Epiphany, Jan. 6; Corpus Christi, which this year falls on June 9; Assumption Day, Aug. 15; All Saints Day, Nov. 1; and Immaculate Conception Day, Dec. 8. Christmas Day and Holy Friday will continue to be observed as holidays. Among the eight others remaining on the Argentine calendar are the July 26 anniversary of the death of Eva Peron and the Oct. 17 Day of Loyalty to Peron.

Hamburg, Germany, March 21 (AP)—The revived German Lufthansa will open its transatlantic service to New York June 6, a spokesman said today.

Big 4 Parley Idea Favored by GOP

Republicans Agree With Senator That Certain Conditions Necessary

Washington, March 21 (AP)—State Department officials say a call by Sen. George (D.-Ga.) for a top level Big Four meeting is in line with the thinking of the Republican administration.

But, like George, they said certain conditions should be met in advance of active efforts to bring together President Eisenhower and the chiefs of Russia, Britain and France.

The department itself had no official comment on George's suggestion.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked about George's proposal today. He would only refer newsmen to comments President Eisenhower has made in news conferences on the subject of a Big Four meeting.

THE PRESIDENT in exchanges with reporters has shied away from the idea of such a sessions under present conditions. He has set up evidences of Soviet good faith as a precondition, mentioning an Austrian peace treaty and agreement to free German elections as areas where the Reds might demonstrate such a new approach.

More recently he has made it plain he would not be interested in a big four session with the German rearmament pacts still pending.

George, an influence in the development of U. S. foreign policy by virtue of his position as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested last night a four power conference offers "the real hope of avoiding war." He said it possibly should be held this year.

AT THE MOMENT, a meeting of big four foreign ministers—like that held in Berlin a year ago—seems more likely than a conference of chiefs of government. Secretary of State Dulles and leaders of Britain and France have talked of this pos-

Report Is Given on Bus Firms

Plight Is Viewed With Concern

Albany, March 21 (AP) — The Public Service Commission told Gov. Harriman and the Legislature today that the plight of bus companies in the state is "one to cause concern."

In the last two years, nearly 50 of the smaller bus lines in the state have gone out of business, the PSC said in its annual report.

Chairman Benjamin F. Feinberg also reported that increases in utility rates in the state last year were the smallest in the eight years since 1946.

AS FOR BUSES, he said the commission had exerted every effort to replace defunct service with new service although it was not obligated to do so under the law.

The bus industry's troubles are not confined to New York state; the problem is nationwide, the commission said.

The troubles, it said, stem from rising operating costs, declining patronage due to increased use of private cars, and difficult operating conditions.

Concerning utility rates, the report said the utilities sought additional revenue totaling more than 77 million dollars. The gross amount allowed by the commission was $7,067,000 but reductions amounting to $2,055,000 left the next increase at $5,012,000."

THE COMMISSION said that 1954 was the second straight year in which the cost of most utility services had leveled off. In 1953, the net increase was $9,545,000 and represented a drop from $40,737,000 in 1952.

The record high was the 1948 total increase of $42,800,000. Of the increases permitted during the year, Feinberg reported, a little over three million, or about 60 per cent of the net boost, was allowed to bus companies.

Of the bus situation in the state, the commission said that "while there are some bright spots here and there, the overall picture is one to cause concern."

Consumers of electricity were the chief beneficiaries of the rate reductions. Increases in that class of service totaled about $74,400 but the decreases

Tax Relief Is in Works For Groups

Bipartisan Action Ahead in Albany

Albany, March 21 (AP)—A bipartisan agreement was reported in the works today to vote $7,400,000 in state income tax relief next year for working mothers, the aged, the ill and the blind.

Democratic leaders in the Legislature were said to have agreed to support three Republican bills that would make the changes effective in 1956 for tax returns covering 1955 incomes.

Previously Gov. Harriman and his administration had taken the postion that they were not opposed to the idea. However, Harriman had insisted that new revenue be found to offset the loss to the state.

THE TAX PROPOSALS stemmed from a study ordered

GOP Leaders Call for State Supervision of Two Funds

Albany, March 21 (AP)—Republican leaders of the Legislature flouted the Harriman Administration again today by calling for State supervision of employe health and welfare funds.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Walter J. Mahoney, majority leader of the Senate said a bill would be introduced to require that financial statements on all such funds be filed yearly with the State Insurance Department.

THEY MAINTAINED it would "prevent abuses" in the management of funds amounting to $2,900,000,000 and covering more than 1½ Million workers. The measure would not affect pension plans.

Five days ago Leffert Holtz, Gov. Harriman's Superintendent of Insurance, said no step should be taken to regulate the funds until a "complete" investigation had been made.

But Heck and Mahoney ignored Holtz. They said in a joint statement that the GOP bill would carry out suggestions for regulation made by Alfred J. Bohlinger, who was Insurance Superintendent under former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

ON ANOTHER FRONT, the influential State Bar Assn. urged Gov. Harriman to put no obstacle in the path of requiring twice-annual safety inspections of automobiles.

Harriman said last week that he was thinking seriously of asking the lawmakers to repeal the compulsory inspection law, enacted last year, or to postpone the check-ups for a year. Auto-

Spring Is Here; Shultis Isn't

The sun has crossed the equator on its journey north—this being the first day of spring—but Tom Shultis of Bearsville, a weather prophet of considerable renown, could not be reached for a new set of weather predictions.

He was on jury duty at the Ulster County Court House!

Mrs. Shultis told The Freeman, however, that her husband, whose seasonal predictions in recent years have proved uncannily accurate, was "working on" a new forecast.

Spring Has Cold Debut With Snow

Tornadoes, Floods Are Part of Fare

(By The Associated Press)

Spring came cold and soggy to the nation's midlands today after winter's boisterous exit Sunday amid tornadoes, torrential rains, widespread snowfall and flood.

Sunday, officially the last day of winter, brought three to five inches of snow in Colorado, western Nebraska and western Kansas, with near blizzard conditios around Loveland, Colo.; a series of tornadoes along the Missouri-Arkansas border; a windstorm so violent it blew down a circus tent at Uvalde, Tex., and a four inch rain that flooded Piedmont, Mo.

TODAY, the first day of spring, saw temperatures drop below freezing as far south as Texas as snow sprinkled the southwestern and central Great Plains and upper Mississippi valley. It drizzled in Chicago. The drizzle froze in Oklahoma City.

The rain belt stretched from central Oklahoma northeastward through the central Mississippi valley and eastward through the southern and central Great Lakes region, northern Ohio valley and into the central Appalachians. Thunderstorms were bunched from northern Louisiana to central Kentucky.

PRECIPITATION generally ranged from an inch to an inch and a half, but Tupelo, Miss., got 2.49 inches in six hours. Snowfall to the west of the rain area varied from a trace to two inches.

The Missouri-Arkansas tornadoes levelled several farm buildings but did not strike heavily populated areas. Only one person was reported injured, although a family of four was reported missing.

The 400 persons watching the circus at Uvalde escaped without serious injury when the big top collapsed. Many of the spectators were children.

PIEDMONT'S VIOLENT rainstorm swelled the normally placid foot deep McKenzie Creek, which flows throught the town, to a depth of 15 feet. It was the worst flood in 12 years and forced 20 families from their homes.

Today was generally colder down the the nation's midsection,

23 Others Are Injured In Missouri

Accident Occurs Near Springfield

Springfield, Mo., March 21 (AP)—An American Airlines plane threading its way through darkness and rain toward a landing field crashed last night, killing 12 persons and injuring 23.

The twin-engine Convair crashed in a pasture about two miles north of the Springfield airport. Wreckage was scattered more than 300 feet.

The plane carried a three-member crew and 32 passengers. All the survivors were injured.

Jack Pripish, of Chicago, the pilot, was the only member of the crew to survive. Stewardes Rita Madaj of Chicago and copilot Glenn Walker of Chicago and Los Angeles died in the wreckage.

THE AIRPORT CONTROL tower had given final clearance for the landing. As the craft approached Carl McCrary in the tower saw a flash. Then the plane disappeared and he gave the alarm.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix, one of the first to reach the scene made muddy by an all-day rain, said:

"There was no fire. In the darkness I found it hard to find the plane and I lost my shoes in the mud as I crossed the farm field.

"Then I heard a woman call and I found her sitting on the ground. I gave her my coat and then I saw three persons walking around dazed. I finally could see the plane in the darkness.

"It's wings were sheared off but the fuselage was intact except for the nose.

"The nose was crumpled up like cellophane.

"TWO AMBULANCES came near the scene but got stuck in the mud. We started taking out the injured as other ambulances arrived but it was close to 1 a. m. before we got them all out."

The plane crashed about 10:30 p. m.

Robert Browning, 15, of Chappaqua, an injured passenger, said there was a "terrible vibration" before the crash.

Mrs. O. W. Peebles, who lives near the scene, reported hearing an explosion just before the crash.

"I was on a clipper plane last summer and I read some instructions on what to do in case of a crash," Browning related. "They said to put your head down between your knees. And I did that when I felt the vibration. The next thing I knew I was lying on the ground about 15 feet from the plane."

YOUNG BROWNING was en route to visit relatives at Harrison, Ark.

Bill Bowers of radio station KTTS said when he reached the plane an elderly man, whose legs appeared to be broken, was lying beside the plane.

"Don't bother about me," the man said. "Get the others out first." Bowers said he didn't know the man's name.

The dead included Stanley Grzankowski, 64 of Detroit, assistant Wayne county prosecutor for 18 of the last 20 years. He was enroute to Springfield on private business.

Reported in critical condition was J. R. McKnight, a prominent Chicago patent attorney.

AT NEW YORK, an American Airlines spokesman said:

"Airlines officials emphasize that there is no way of knowing at this time what caused the accident."

He said company officials from Tulsa, Chicago and New York had been dispatched to the scene and would join "in the investigation which will be conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board."

Because there was no fire, rescuers had difficulty finding the plane in the darkness. It was 2½ hours before the first ambulance reached a hospital

Adm. Rickover Is Praised By Congressional Group

Groton, Conn., March 21 (AP)—Members of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee, returning today from an all night cruise aboard the Nautilus, predicted that "the development of atomic powered submarines will radically change naval strategy and tactics."

The committee, in a prepared statement handed newsmen who greeted it, said "the Nautilus is the only submarine in the world that can completely circle the globe at full speed submerged."

The group also commended Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover "for his foresight and follow through" as being the person to whom "more than any other, the success of the Nautilus is due."

Rickover, who was one of two admirals accompanying the 12 congressmen, played a prominent part in the construction of the world's first nuclear powered submarine.

Rear Admiral Frank T. Watkins, commander of the Atlantic submarine force was the other admiral aboard.

"Not only were we impressed by the performance of the Nautilus as an operating naval vessel, but we deeply believe her success marks the beginning of the new approach to naval warfare and indeed of the ultimate replacement of conventionally fueled submarines and surface ships by ones driven by atomic energy," said the committee.

The committee said the Nautilus operated perfectly both on and beneath the surface at all speeds and that several deep dives, some in excess of 300 feet, were made.

A SLOATSBURGH FACTORY BUILDING, above, two blocks long and 102 years old, burned in a spectacular fire late Saturday. Two textile firms that occupied the building estimated damage at two million dollars. The blaze, of unknown origin, wiped out the jobs of 300 persons, most of them from this Rockland county community of 2,200. The two-story building had been occupied by the Schwartz Yarn Co. and the Ramapo Piece Dye Works. About 50 persons were on the job when the fire broke out, but all fled to safety. There were no injuries. Company officials said they believed the fire started in one of the dye plant's "drying boxes." In another weekend fire at Fallsburgh in Sullivan county, a large commercial and residential building was virtually wrecked last night. The blaze forced families from the building's 11 apartments but no injuries were reported. The 2½-story building had also contained a tavern and three stores. Damage estimates ranged well over $50,000. (Wagenfohr Photo)

Special Guests to Get Honors at Exposition

The Lions Club will honor special guests during the "Kingston Area on Parade" industrial exposition and home show at the state armory tomorrow through Saturday.

Tuesday night's guest will be Dr. O. L. Larsen of the Guide Dog Foundation, with his dog, "Sitka." Dr. Larsen will be at the Lions Eye Bank booth during the evening to talk with persons interested in that phase of the club's work on behalf of the blind.

Miss Karen Trowbridge of High Falls, the 4-H youngster who was chosen as Apple Pie Queen at the Eastern meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society in January, will be Wednesday evening's special guest.

On Thursday, the Lions Club will be host to Miss Marjorie Campbell of Red Hook, the National Cherry Pie Queen.

Friday night, Miss Nancy Hutton of Hurley, Ulster county blue ribbon winner in the cherry pie baking contest, will be the guest.

Each of the guests will be at the show from 8 to 10:30 p. m. to view the exhibits. They will spend part of the evening at the Lions Club booth.

There will be no special guest on Saturday night, the show's final night.

A total of 126 booths have been provided in the armory building, in which 64 separate firms or individuals will display articles, according to Warren Smith, co-chairman.

Among new items this year will be a display of house trailers including one of the new "two-story" trailers.

The large number of booths, double that of last year, was made possible through the discontinuance of the automobile

Spring came cold and soggy to the nation's midlands today after winter's boisterous exit Sunday amid tornadoes, torrential rains, widespread snowfall and flood.

Sunday, officially the last day of winter, brought three to five inches of snow in Colorado, western Nebraska and western Kansas, with near blizzard conditios around Loveland, Colo.; a series of tornadoes along the Missouri-Arkansas border; a windstorm so violent it blew down a circus tent at Uvalde, Tex., and a four inch rain that flooded Piedmont, Mo.

TODAY, the first day of spring, saw temperatures drop below freezing as far south as Texas as snow sprinkled the southwestern and central Great Plains and upper Mississippi valley. It drizzled in Chicago. The drizzle froze in Oklahoma City.

The rain belt stretched from central Oklahoma northeastward through the central Mississippi valley and eastward through the southern and central Great Lakes region, northern Ohio valley and into the central Appalachians. Thunderstorms were bunched from northern Louisiana to central Kentucky.

PRECIPITATION generally ranged from an inch to an inch and a half, but Tupelo, Miss., got 2.49 inches in six hours. Snowfall to the west of the rain area varied from a trace to two inches.

The Missouri-Arkansas tornadoes levelled several farm buildings but did not strike heavily populated areas. Only one person was reported injured, although a family of four was reported missing.

The 400 persons watching the circus at Uvalde escaped without serious injury when the big top collapsed. Many of the spectators were children.

PIEDMONT'S VIOLENT rainstorm swelled the normally placid foot deep McKenzie Creek, which flows throught the town, to a depth of 15 feet. It was the worst flood in 12 years and forced 20 families from their homes.

Today was generally colder down the the nation's midsection,

23 Others Are Injured In Missouri

Accident Occurs Near Springfield

Springfield, Mo., March 21 (AP)—An American Airlines plane threading its way through darkness and rain toward a landing field crashed last night, killing 12 persons and injuring 23.

The twin-engine Convair crashed in a pasture about two miles north of the Springfield airport. Wreckage was scattered more than 300 feet.

The plane carried a three-member crew and 32 passengers. All the survivors were injured.

Jack Pripish, of Chicago, the pilot, was the only member of the crew to survive. Stewardes Rita Madaj of Chicago and co-pilot Glenn Walker of Chicago and Los Angeles died in the wreckage.

THE AIRPORT CONTROL tower had given final clearance for the landing. As the craft approached Carl McCrary in the tower saw a flash. Then the plane disappeared and he gave the alarm.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix, one of the first to reach the scene made muddy by an all-day rain, said:

"There was no fire. In the darkness I found it hard to find the plane and I lost my shoes in the mud as I crossed the farm field.

"Then I heard a woman call and I found her sitting on the ground. I gave her my coat and then I saw three persons walking around dazed. I finally could see the plane in the darkness.

"It's wings were sheared off but the fuselage was intact except for the nose.

"The nose was crumpled up like cellophane.

"TWO AMBULANCES came near the scene but got stuck in the mud. We started taking out the injured as other ambulances arrived but it was close to 1 a. m. before we got them all out."

The plane crashed about 10:30 p. m.

Robert Browning, 15, of Chappaqua, an injured passenger, said there was a "terrible vibration" before the crash.

Mrs. O. W. Peebles, who lives near the scene, reported hearing an explosion just before the crash.

"I was on a clipper plane last summer and I read some instructions on what to do in case of a crash," Browning related. "They said to put your head down between your knees. And I did that when I felt the vibration. The next thing I knew I was lying on the ground about 15 feet from the plane."

YOUNG BROWNING was en route to visit relatives at Harrison, Ark.

Bill Bowers of radio station KTTS said when he reached the plane an elderly man, whose legs appeared to be broken, was lying beside the plane.

"Don't bother about me," the man said. "Get the others out first." Bowers said he didn't know the man's name.

The dead included Stanley Grzankowski, 64 of Detroit, assistant Wayne county prosecutor for 18 of the last 20 years. He was enroute to Springfield on private business.

Reported in critical condition was J. R. McKnight, a prominent Chicago patent attorney.

AT NEW YORK, an American Airlines spokesman said:

"Airlines officials emphasize that there is no way of knowing at this time what caused the accident."

He said company officials from Tulsa, Chicago and New York had been dispatched to the scene and would join "in the investigation which will be conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Board."

Because there was no fire, rescuers had difficulty finding the plane in the darkness. It was 2½ hours before the first ambulance reached a hospital

Ulster Voters Favor School

A proposal to erect an elementary school in Union Free District No. 8, town of Ulster, was approved by a vote of nearly five to one on Saturday.

A bond issue of $800,000 was authorized by the voters to finance purchase of a 19-acre site and construction of a kindergarten through Grade 6 school on Albany avenue extension opposite the Ulster Hose Company firehouse.

Voting was for two propositions. The first, authorizing acquisition of the land, was passed by a vote of 292 for, 61 against and 18 void. The second proposition, authorizing construction of the school, was adopted by a vote of 283 for, 69 against and 19 void.

A total of 371 votes was cast.

The proposed building is being designed by Architect Albert E. Milliken of Kingston, who is associated with the firm of LaPiere, Litchfield and Partners of New York.

Says Crime Increases

New York, March 21 (AP)—The chief of New York's subway police says crime is on the increase throughout the transit system and he needs double the present police force to deal with it. Capt. Matthew J. Hughes, commanding officer of the Transit Police Bureau, said yesterday he needs 1,228 men to patrol subway and elevated lines. There are now 537 men on the force, but it is scheduled to be boosted to 852 next month. Hughes said offenses committed throughout the transit system "are of the type that can be prevented by effective uniformed patrol supplemented by an adequate plain-clothes squad."

Body Is Identified

Catskill, March 21 (AP)—The body of a man recovered from the Hudson river yesterday has been identified tentatively as Thomas Stewart, 65, of Albany. Stewart had been missing since Dec. 15. Dr. Mahlon Atkinson, Greene county coroner, was investigating.

Dates Are Eliminated

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 21 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron crossed five religious dates off Argentina's list of national holidays by decree today. He said the holidays were reduced because of the necessity of increasing the nation's production. But the decree coincided with renewed tension between the Peron regime and the Roman Catholic Church. The holidays eleminated were Epiphany, Jan. 6; Corpus Christi, which this year falls on June 9; Assumption Day, Aug. 15; All Saints Day, Nov. 1; and Immaculate Conception Day, Dec. 8. Christmas Day and Holy Friday will continue to be observed as holidays. Among the eight others remaining on the Argentine calendar are the July 26 anniversary of the death of Eva Peron and the Oct. 17 Day of Loyalty to Peron.

Adm. Rickover Is Praised By Congressional Group

Groton, Conn., March 21 (AP)—Members of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee, returning today from an all night cruise aboard the Nautilus, predicted that "the development of atomic powered submarines will radically change naval strategy and tactics."

The committee, in a prepared statement handed newsmen who greeted it, said "the Nautilus is the only submarine in the world that can completely circle the globe at full speed submerged."

The group also commended Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover "for his foresight and follow through" as being the person to whom "more than any other, the success of the Nautilus is due."

Rickover, who was one of two admirals accompanying the 12 congressmen, played a prominent part in the construction of the world's first nuclear powered submarine.

Rear Admiral Frank T. Watkins, commander of the Atlantic submarine force was the other admiral aboard.

"Not only were we impressed by the performance of the Nautilus as an operating naval vessel, but we deeply believe her success marks the beginning of the new approach to naval warfare and indeed of the ultimate replacement of conventionally fueled submarines and surface ships by ones driven by atomic energy," said the committee.

The committee said the Nautilus operated perfectly both on and beneath the surface at all speeds and that several deep dives, some in excess of 300 feet, were made.

A SLOATSBURGH FACTORY BUILDING, above, two blocks long and 102 years old, burned in a spectacular fire late Saturday. Two textile firms that occupied the building estimated damage at two million dollars. The blaze, of unknown origin, wiped out the jobs of 300 persons, most of them from this Rockland county community of 2,200. The two-story building had been occupied by the Schwartz Yarn Co. and the Ramapo Piece Dye Works. About 50 persons were on the job when the fire broke out, but all fled to safety. There were no injuries. Company officials said they believed the fire started in one of the dye plant's "drying boxes." In another weekend fire at Fallsburgh in Sullivan county, a large commercial and residential building was virtually wrecked last night. The blaze forced families from the building's 11 apartments but no injuries were reported. The 2½-story building had also contained a tavern and three stores. Damage estimates ranged well over $50,000. (Wagenfohr Photo)

The large number of booths, double that of last year, was made possible through the discontinuance of the automobile

Two Are Charged By Grand Jury

Donald John Travis, 26, and Robert George Roberts, Jr., 20, of Ossining have been charged by the grand jury with robbery, first degree, for the alleged holding up of Arthur Spero, operator of the Grand Tavern on North road, Highland, early on the morning of February 25.

The two were arrested in Poughkeepsie on March 2 when they were found sleeping in a car. They were charged with possession of a revolver by the police there but were later turned over to the Ulster county authorities following questioning by state police.

Spero was held up and robbed of some $800 as he was closing his tavern. The robbers missed some $1,200 which he had in a wallet. The men who held him up left in a car.

The indictment was handed up to Supreme Court Justice Kenneth MacAffer and pleas of innocent were entered. Travis and Roberts said they were represented by Stephen Bienick and Charles H. Gaffney appeared at the arraignment on their behalf.

Bandit Gets $30,000

Beth Page, March 21 (AP)—A polite bandit, armed only with a hunting knife, terrorized three employes of a bank for 15 minutes today and then escaped with about $30,000. Police said the bandit broke through a rear window of the Beth Page office of the Hempstead bank early today and hid in a closet. When three employes entered the bank, the man leaped out of the closet, brandishing his knife, and told Miss Sadie Reeves to open the safe. Miss Reeves said there was a time lock on the safe and it could not be opened for 15 minutes. The bandit, described as about 35 years old with tape masking his nose and upper lip, said he'd wait and told Miss Reeves and two tellers—Robert Esposito and Lilian Dermody—to sit down.

No Foul Play Is Found in Death

Miami, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Nothing to indicate foul play has been uncovered in the investigation of a fire in which a Miami woman died and the husband of former Metropolitan Opera soprano Irra Petina was seriously burned, sheriff's officers said today.

But they said they have not had a satisfactory account of the incident and that the investigation will continue. A coroner's jury which was called was in recess until the persons injured in the Friday morning fire are able to appear.

An autopsy performed Sunday on the dead woman, 34-year-old Emma Jo Selby, indicated she had been alive at the time of the fire, medical officials said. They said the autopsy showed her throat and esophagus were seared by flames she apparently breathed. No bone fractures or foreign objects in her body were found, they reported.

DR. FRANK R. BUSSEY, JR., a Bayshore, Long Island, eye specialist, was in a Miami hospital for treatment of burns he received. His wife, soprano Irra Petina, was in Miami to be near him.

The former opera singer arrived in Miami Saturday. After a talk with Bussey she vowed to stick with him because, she said, "he needs me." She plans to return to New York tomorrow.

Bussey, who vowed he "has nothing to hide," refused to discuss the case, on instructions of his attorney, he said.

H. R. Harkins, an Asheville, N. C., attorney, accompanied Bussey and Miss Selby to the famed Caribbean Club on Key Largo for a fishing trip. The club was burned early Friday morning. Its owner, Bill Krone, was also injured by the fire.

Furniture Firm Sells Busines

The Kingston Used Furniture Company building at 78 North Front street has been sold and its stock will be liquidated, it was announced today by William R. McClements, manager.

One of Kingston's landmarks, the stone building in colonial times was known as the DeWall Tavern and figured prominently in the area's early history. In intervening years, it was the scene of several fires, but its solid stone walls remained standing and the building was reconstructed several times.

McClements has conducted the used furniture business there since 1946. He said he plans to make his home in Florida after liquidating the stock of the store.

Purchasers were named as Samuel Kenik and Jacob Lipschutz. Kenik, of 74 North Front street, said they have no immediate plans for the building.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 21 (AP) — Coppers were higher today in a rather steady stock market.

In the early afternoon, prices changed narrowly with the exceptions of a few unusually wide movers.

Trading was on the quiet side as it was on Friday when only 2,050,000 shares were traded.

Coppers headed higher following reports of probable price increases on the heels of strength in foreign markets.

Steels were irregular with strength and weakness in leading issues bringing on a mixed price pattern.

Fairless Gives Opinion

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel said today the steel industry hasn't done right in the past by its owners—American investors. His own company has been trying "by every proper means" to build investor confidence, U. S. Steel's board chairman said in testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee's soon-to-end stock market hearings.

O&W Hearing Finds Many Groups at New York Session

New York, March 21 (AP)—Representatives of creditors, unions and municipalities appeared today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing to determine whether the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railroad should be sold or taken over by its bondholders.

Hearing examiner Homer H. Kirby said that other proposals for disposition of the road may be presented at the hearing. He said the hearing may last up to a week.

THE 541-MILE RAILROAD, whose main line runs from Middletown to Oswego, N. Y., has been in bankruptcy since 1937.

The road's federal trustee, Lewis D. Freeman of Middletown, has proposed that the road be sold for $4,600,000 to a higher bidder, Samuel M. Pimsly Associates Inc., of Boston, under an agreement that the buyer will keep the road running at least 10 years.

But holders of refunding mortgage bonds insist that such a sale would mean a total loss to them and want to take over the road and run it themselves.

Before the hearing began, Charles B. Marr, a New York accountant and chairman of the bondholders' group, said the railroad's debts now total about 131 million dollars and that the proposed sales price would not pay off some 6 million dollars in back taxes.

"THE ROAD HAS BEEN deliberately botched," he said. He said there was "no doubt about it" that the bondholders' plan could put the road back in the black.

Besides the main line, the railroad has branches running to Weehawken, N. J.; Scranton, Pa., and Rome, Utica, Kingston and Port Jervis, N. Y. Established in 1880, the railroad has 1,300 employes.

Elbert N. Oakes of Middletown, counsel for the trustee, told reporters the railroad had accumulated about 9 million dollars in unpaid obligations since it went into bankruptcy 18 years ago. It lost about $1,500,000 last year.

The railroad, originally both a passenger and freight line, abandoned passenger service a year and a half ago after its annual volume dropped to about $300,000. Oakes said the freight volume which ran 9 million dollars a year during the war, now is about 7 million dollars annually.

No Cause Verdict Returned in Case

A verdict of no cause for action was returned in Supreme court in an action brought by Ruth L. Vermilyea, as admintratrix, against Arthur Krause of Saugerties. The action was brought to recover for the death of her husband Charles Vermilyea, an IBM employe, who was fatally injured on May 7, 1954 on route 9-W north of Highland when the car in which he was a passenger was struck by a truck. At the time the Krause car had stopped to pick up another IBM worker.

The action was commenced against Floyd Deyo, the truck operator, and Krause. The action against the truck operator was settled and the present action went to trial against Krause, in whose car Vermilyea was riding. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared for Krause and Rosenblum and Lamb with N. Levan Haver as trial counsel appeared for Mrs. Vermilyea.

SETTLED WAS the case of Anthony Sabella and another against Melvin Elwood Franklon, negligence. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and McCabe and McCabe for defendant.

Also settled that of Olive Brady and another against Benjamin Gulnick, Jr., negligence. Charles H. Gaffney for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defendant, and Lawrence Quinn against David D. Duryea and others, negligence. Charles H. Gaffney for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendants.

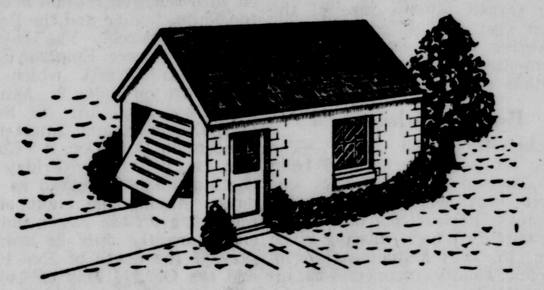

Additions to the day calendar were made at the opening of court this morning by Justice MacAffer.

Two Are Charged By Grand Jury

Donald John Travis, 26, and Robert George Roberts, Jr., 20, of Ossining have been charged by the grand jury with robbery, first degree, for the alleged holding up of Arthur Spero, operator of the Grand Tavern on North road, Highland, early on the morning of February 25.

The two were arrested in Poughkeepsie on March 2 when they were found sleeping in a car. They were charged with possession of a revolver by the police there but were later turned over to the Ulster county authorities following questioning by state police.

Spero was held up and robbed of some $800 as he was closing his tavern. The robbers missed some $1,200 which he had in a wallet. The men who held him up left in a car.

The indictment was handed up to Supreme Court Justice Kenneth MacAffer and pleas of innocent were entered. Travis and Roberts said they were represented by Stephen Bienick and Charles H. Gaffney appeared at the arraignment on their behalf.

Bandit Gets $30,000

Beth Page, March 21 (AP)—A polite bandit, armed only with a hunting knife, terrorized three employes of a bank for 15 minutes today and then escaped with about $30,000. Police said the bandit broke through a rear window of the Beth Page office of the Hempstead bank early today and hid in a closet. When three employes entered the bank, the man leaped out of the closet, brandishing his knife, and told Miss Sadie Reeves to open the safe. Miss Reeves said there was a time lock on the safe and it could not be opened for 15 minutes. The bandit, described as about 35 years old with tape masking his nose and upper lip, said he'd wait and told Miss Reeves and two tellers—Robert Esposito and Lilian Dermody—to sit down.

No Foul Play Is Found in Death

Miami, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Nothing to indicate foul play has been uncovered in the investigation of a fire in which a Miami woman died and the husband of former Metropolitan Opera soprano Irra Petina was seriously burned, sheriff's officers said today.

But they said they have not had a satisfactory account of the incident and that the investigation will continue. A coroner's jury which was called was in recess until the persons injured in the Friday morning fire are able to appear.

An autopsy performed Sunday on the dead woman, 34-year-old Emma Jo Selby, indicated she had been alive at the time of the fire, medical officials said. They said the autopsy showed her throat and esophagus were seared by flames she apparently breathed. No bone fractures or foreign objects in her body were found, they reported.

DR. FRANK R. BUSSEY, JR., a Bayshore, Long Island, eye specialist, was in a Miami hospital for treatment of burns he received. His wife, soprano Irra Petina, was in Miami to be near him.

The former opera singer arrived in Miami Saturday. After a talk with Bussey she vowed to stick with him because, she said, "he needs me." She plans to return to New York tomorrow.

Bussey, who vowed he "has nothing to hide," refused to discuss the case, on instructions of his attorney, he said.

H. R. Harkins, an Asheville, N. C., attorney, accompanied Bussey and Miss Selby to the famed Caribbean Club on Key Largo for a fishing trip. The club was burned early Friday morning. Its owner, Bill Krone, was also injured by the fire.

Furniture Firm Sells Busines

The Kingston Used Furniture Company building at 78 North Front street has been sold and its stock will be liquidated, it was announced today by William R. McClements, manager.

One of Kingston's landmarks, the stone building in colonial times was known as the DeWall Tavern and figured prominently in the area's early history. In intervening years, it was the scene of several fires, but its solid stone walls remained standing and the building was reconstructed several times.

McClements has conducted the used furniture business there since 1946. He said he plans to make his home in Florida after liquidating the stock of the store.

Purchasers were named as Samuel Kenik and Jacob Lipschutz. Kenik, of 74 North Front street, said they have no immediate plans for the building.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 21 (AP) — Coppers were higher today in a rather steady stock market.

In the early afternoon, prices changed narrowly with the exceptions of a few unusually wide movers.

Trading was on the quiet side as it was on Friday when only 2,050,000 shares were traded.

Coppers headed higher following reports of probable price increases on the heels of strength in foreign markets.

Steels were irregular with strength and weakness in leading issues bringing on a mixed price pattern.

Fairless Gives Opinion

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel said today the steel industry hasn't done right in the past by its owners—American investors. His own company has been trying "by every proper means" to build investor confidence, U. S. Steel's board chairman said in testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee's soon-to-end stock market hearings.

Youth Is Killed

O&W Hearing Finds Many Groups at New York Session

New York, March 21 (AP)—Representatives of creditors, unions and municipalities appeared today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing to determine whether the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railroad should be sold or taken over by its bondholders.

Hearing examiner Homer H. Kirby said that other proposals for disposition of the road may be presented at the hearing. He said the hearing may last up to a week.

THE 541-MILE RAILROAD, whose main line runs from Middletown to Oswego, N. Y., has been in bankruptcy since 1937.

The road's federal trustee, Lewis D. Freeman of Middletown, has proposed that the road be sold for $4,600,000 to a higher bidder, Samuel M. Pimsly Associates Inc., of Boston, under an agreement that the buyer will keep the road running at least 10 years.

But holders of refunding mortgage bonds insist that such a sale would mean a total loss to them and want to take over the road and run it themselves.

Before the hearing began, Charles B. Marr, a New York accountant and chairman of the bondholders' group, said the railroad's debts now total about 131 million dollars and that the proposed sales price would not pay off some 6 million dollars in back taxes.

"THE ROAD HAS BEEN deliberately botched," he said. He said there was "no doubt about it" that the bondholders' plan could put the road back in the black.

Besides the main line, the railroad has branches running to Weehawken, N. J.; Scranton, Pa., and Rome, Utica, Kingston and Port Jervis, N. Y. Established in 1880, the railroad has 1,300 employes.

Elbert N. Oakes of Middletown, counsel for the trustee, told reporters the railroad had accumulated about 9 million dollars in unpaid obligations since it went into bankruptcy 18 years ago. It lost about $1,500,000 last year.

The railroad, originally both a passenger and freight line, abandoned passenger service a year and a half ago after its annual volume dropped to about $300,000. Oakes said the freight volume which ran 9 million dollars a year during the war, now is about 7 million dollars annually.

No Cause Verdict Returned in Case

A verdict of no cause for action was returned in Supreme court in an action brought by Ruth L. Vermilyea, as admintratrix, against Arthur Krause of Saugerties. The action was brought to recover for the death of her husband Charles Vermilyea, an IBM employe, who was fatally injured on May 7, 1954 on route 9-W north of Highland when the car in which he was a passenger was struck by a truck. At the time the Krause car had stopped to pick up another IBM worker.

The action was commenced against Floyd Deyo, the truck operator, and Krause. The action against the truck operator was settled and the present action went to trial against Krause, in whose car Vermilyea was riding. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared for Krause and Rosenblum and Lamb with N. Levan Haver as trial counsel appeared for Mrs. Vermilyea.

SETTLED WAS the case of Anthony Sabella and another against Melvin Elwood Franklon, negligence. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and McCabe and McCabe for defendant.

Also settled that of Olive Brady and another against Benjamin Gulnick, Jr., negligence. Charles H. Gaffney for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defendant, and Lawrence Quinn against David D. Duryea and others, negligence. Charles H. Gaffney for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendants.

Additions to the day calendar were made at the opening of court this morning by Justice MacAffer.

It has been estimated that the undeveloped coal lands of New Mexico contain 192,000,000,000 tons.

Conferees Meet March 23 on Taxes

Washington, March 21 (AP) — Congressional leaders predicted freely today House Democrats will abandon their fight for an income tax cut to avoid being blamed for slicing other revenues.

The House voted its $20-a-person tax cut plan into a bill which would extend for another year corporate and excise tax rates due to expire April 1. The Senate rejected the tax cut and voted only to continue the other taxes. Unless they are extended, government income will drop an estimated three billion dollars a year.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), who fought the tax cut plan, said last night he believes the House will back down rather than run the risk of killing the revenue bill. House members also said during the weekend they thought they would be forced to yield.

House and Senate conferees will meet Wednesday to seek some compromise.

Automation is Word That Plagues Washington Folk

Washington, March 21 (AP)— Let your senator get curious about what makes the ticker tape at the stock exchange tick and he'll get wound up in the strangest things.

Automoticity, for instance. Or why clocks in autos stop running before the cars do. Or why Bessie is having trouble getting married in Youngstown. Or why one of the nation's top-paid industrialists has to borrow at the bank for personal reasons.

THE SENATE Banking Committee, which is nearing the end of its study of how Wall street operates, never has found out exactly what automoticity is.

It was Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) who observed plaintively that he was having trouble understanding what automation was.

So, to be helpful, Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, who was on the witness stand at the time, threw out the word automoticity as a substitute.

The senator recoiled, as well he might. And the matter was dropped with almost unseemly speed for a senatorial hearing.

AUTOMATION has been bothering others here, too. President Eisenhower refers to it as "another word that has now arisen to plague us some."

To most folk it probably seems to mean: "Look, mom, the factory's running without hands."

Both the President of the United States and the president of General Motors agree, however, that the word is just a new dodge some fellow thought up for a situation that's not new at all. Automation's been going on in industry for 150 years at least, only it used to be called mechanization.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower says it means finding ways of doing work with fewer man-hours devoted to it. (Many a man's fondest dream). Curtice calls it "making tools to produce goods more efficiently than you did last year." Engineers, of course, define it as running a factory as nearly automatically as possible.

Bessie gets into the stock market hearing strictly by the back door.

Bessie is the name Wall Streeters use when they should be saying Bethlehem Steel Corp. —a name that shouldn't be mentioned this day at all, because the Senate Committee is questioning Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the United States Steel this afternoon.

BUT A COMMITTEE member, Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.), wrote a letter to the Justice Department asking how about Bessie's known yen to merge with Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and the Justice Department has just replied that it will ask the courts, if Bessie persists, to halt the wedding.

The committee has looked into a lot of other things, too. Like how can you tell a good stock tipster from a bad one? One witness said, "There's no such thing as a good tipster." And another one said there were honest tipsters and dishonest ones, but flatly refused to give the committee members any tips himself.

THE CASE of the stone dead clock was brought by Sen. Robertson (D-Va.). The GM president had been answering questions about why didn't he lower car prices, and the like. Came the Virginia senator's turn and he said all he wanted to know was: When was the auto industry coming up with a car clock that would run a reasonable length of time? Said the clock in his own car quit three years ago. Curtice said his engineers were working hard on that one.

Curtice also agreed with another senator that debt was a problem. Said he'd had to go to the bank for a personal loan so he could take advantage of his rights as a GM stockholder to buy more shares under the recent stock offerings. Curtice said that neither the company nor he really enjoys being in debt.

Suggestions Sought

Washington, March 21 (AP)— Harold E. Stassen wants the public to send him suggestions on how he could approach his new job as President Eisenhower's special assistant for disarmament. Stassen, named to the new post created Saturday by Eisenhower, invited the public's ideas, suggestions and comments in an ABC radio-TV interview yesterday. Of his cabinet level job, Stassen said: 'This is the search for ideas that mankind will have better hope for peace. It is the kind of matter in which you must never give up hope . . . even in a nuclear age."

Area businessmen and sales personnel have been invited to attend the Mid-Hudson Sales Rally, sponsored by the Sales Executive Club of the Mid-Hudson Valley, at the Arlington High School near Poughkeepsie at 8 p. m. Monday, March 28, it was announced today by Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Kurdt said all phases of selling would be covered at the rally, from over-the-counter to major items. The subject matter will be of direct interest and value to everyone interested in any form of selling, he pointed out.

Tickets may be purchased from J. Ellis Briggs of Kingston, a director of the Sales Executive Club, or reservations may be made at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel building.

Two of the nation's top sales experts will conduct the rally. They are Frank W. Lovejoy, sales executive of the Socony Vacuum Oil Company of New York, and William H. Gove, vice president and director of sales of the EMC Recordings Corporation of St. Paul, Minn., both top authorities in sales and personnel development.

Reservations for the rally should be made not later than Friday, March 25.

Suggestions Sought

Washington, March 21 (AP)— Harold E. Stassen wants the public to send him suggestions on how he could approach his new job as President Eisenhower's special assistant for disarmament. Stassen, named to the new post created Saturday by Eisenhower, invited the public's ideas, suggestions and comments in an ABC radio-TV interview yesterday. Of his cabinet level job, Stassen said: 'This is the search for ideas that mankind will have better hope for peace. It is the kind of matter in which you must never give up hope . . . even in a nuclear age."

CUTTING DELIVERY COSTS

It costs more to get an orange to a New York City housewife from a downtown market than it does to grow, grade, pack and ship the same orange from California to New York. It costs more also to deliver a quart of milk from a Brooklyn bottling plant to a consumer in neighboring Flatbush than the combined cost per quart of raising the feed, caring for and milking the cow, transporting and pasteurizing the raw milk, and pouring it into bottles.

These examples of faulty distribution are presented by David Kaplan, economist of the Teamsters Union, which is joining a cooperative effort to squeeze the waste out of our delivery system. Kaplan is convinced that the cause of these excessive costs is not greed nor overhigh wages, but faulty methods of handling, and unnecessary competition. The individual consumer may also bear some of the responsibility. Some of the special services he demands may prove to be unjustifiable economically.

Every city has glaring examples of waste like the above. Investigation might eliminate some of it, and help everyone from producer to consumer.

IT'S UNDERSTANDABLE

A psychologist named Peter Siegle has been investigating people's sleeping habits. He finds that most of us are pretty sluggish about getting out of bed in the morning.

His chief explanation is that in this time of trouble we're reluctant to face all the uncertainties ahead on any particular day.

In other words, no matter what transparent tricks we may use to cling to that bed a little longer, what we're actually doing is retreating from civilization.

It's understandable. From that warm, soft haven of blankets and pillows we can't see the wicked Kremlin (though admittedly a few do imagine that Khrushchev and his gang are under the box springs). The turbulent Formosa Straits don't flow nearby. The only fall-out we have to worry about is made up of dust and feathers.

The pressures of the market place and the strident tones of angry men debating public issues seem nightmarish fantasies. The tax collector is a fuzzy, only faintly disturbing image lost in a sea of softness and peace.

Is it any wonder we snarl at the alarm clock which sharply summons us away from this trouble-free island we call our bed?

This nightly exile from reality preserves our sanity as well as our physical being. And the way things are going, we'll probably be grabbing more time between the covers than ever before.

As a motorist edging your car in and out of congested traffic areas, you have a perfect right to insist on the right of way when you have it. Remember, of course, that fenders will crunch just as quickly whether you're right or wrong.

SURMOUNTING A HANDICAP

Every day there are new examples of what the handicapped can accomplish if they are given encouragement and opportunity.

Mary Kay Howard, a blind student at Flora Mather College of Western Reserve University, was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She is majoring in history and languages and this June she will receive her degree. Her mother and her fellow students have helped her by reading to her. Professors have cooperated by giving her oral assignments.

There was a time when society regarded the blind as objects of pity, unfortunate persons who could hope to do little more than bear their affliction with patience. Today we have come to realize that a handicapped person can achieve a useful, productive life and make valuable contributions to society. They ask only that we give them the chance to overcome their handicap.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A MATTER OF DEFINITION

I once heard a speaker startle an audience by asking: "Are you happy?"

The reaction was curious because obviously the happy people had never thought about it. They went their contented way.

Paul H. Appleby, who controls the happiness of the citizens of New York State because he manages their Budget, once defined civilization as:

". . . the attainment and further pursuit of social and personal complexity. This complexity is sought through division of labor and through specialization and extension of activity experience, and learning, all of which are possible only through progressively more intricate forms of social organization. . . ."

This could be a Marxian view of man as a functional creature whose nature and character are determined by his environment and the tools he uses for a livelihood. It omits morals, ethics, conscience, joy, pride in self, pride in family. Thomas Carlyle once defined modern civilization as having three great elements, Gunpowder, Printing and the Protestant Religion. Perhaps some philosopher today might say that it is atomic fission, electronics and fear.

To most of us, civilization means the lifting of man from a driven, fearful clod, existing only to perform his biological functions, to an ever higher respect for an aspiration to moral and spiritual values, the greatest of which is freedom of the mind and dignity of person.

One of the consequences of such a definition as Mr. Appleby's is the reduction of man into elites of specialists: A farmer may not be a plumber because he does not belong to the plumber's union; a teacher of Greek may not play a bassoon in a symphony orchestra unless he has James Petrillo's imprimatur; a citizen may not have a cracker-barrel discussion on fluoridation—a timely topic—because he is not a member of the American Dental Association. Yet Henry Ford did remarkable work on the internal combustion engine without having a degree from any university and Benjamin Franklin has been honored as a wise man and a philosopher without a better formal education than serving as a printer's devil.

George Bernard Shaw said:

". . . The Anarchist, the Fabian, the Salvationist, the Vegetarian, the doctor, the lawyer, the parson, the professor of ethics, the gymnast, the soldier, the sportsman, the inventor, the political program-maker, all have some prescription for bettering us; and almost all their remedies are physically possible and aimed at admitted evils. To them the limit of progress is, at worst, the completion of all the suggested reforms and the levelling up of all men to the point attained already by the most highly nourished and cultivated in mind and body."

Every time a plan for improving the entire human race by some artifice comes along, thousands join a cult and grow wildly and fanatically enthusiastic about it and insist not only an converting others, which is no crime, but having a law passed on the subject, which surely is a moral crime. My old friend, Bernarr Macfadden, tried to turn the world vegetarian. Macfadden only propagandized for his vegetables, but Volstead deprived a nation of beer by law and sent them to bath-tub gin and the reign of Al Capone.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, a learned and respected physician, makes the point that he favors fluoridation because some experts favor it. He says:

"To me, the distressing feature of all this fight about fluoridation is that people who know absolutely nothing about the subject refused to take the advice of the leading health authorities in the land who alone are competent to review the facts and to decide what should be done. . . ."

Does that make anything right? Those who were paid to be our experts in the State Department got us into that complex of miseries that came out of the Yalta Conference. Were they right because we paid them to know? Dr. Alvarez uses iodized salt as an example of virtuous living. But we are not forced to buy iodized salt; we are still free to buy plain salt. And nobody pours gallons of iodine into our drinking water. It is the compulsion to follow what one does not accept that is the difference between a free society and Mr. Appleby's society.

The theory of government by experts is not new. Sparta had it and Plato believed in it. But Lincoln preferred a government of, by, and for the people which is what we like hereabouts.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLISM

Just at what point an alcoholic becomes an an alcoholic, rather than just a heavy social drinker, is difficult to determine. However, as a general rule, we may say that a person who continues to overindulge in liquor after his drinking has repeatedly caused him financial or domestic trouble is an alcoholic. Some old ideas about alcoholism—that a man must drink alone, must drink in the morning, or become very obviously intoxicated in order to qualify as an alcoholic — are just not true. A patient may be severely alcoholic for years and never become openly drunk or completely sober. Housewives, because of the privacy their homes give them, may conceal their dependence on alcohol for months or years.

However, the old saying, "once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic," is quite true; there can be no compromise. A single drink will always end in a drinking bout. "At the end of a bout, the patient's resolve to stop drinking is at a peak and he is most likely to seek treatment from his doctor at this time." What can his doctor do for him?

Of course, the first thing is to restore him to a normal physical state of health, building up his general health and making sure he receives the food elements, such as vitamins, that he has been lacking during the drinking bout. Long-acting quiteing drugs, such as chloral hydrate, paralyehyde and Mebaral, are helpful during the first few days.

Antabuse, which we have discussed before, "appears to be the most effective means of treating the chronic alcoholic available in general practice." When a patient taking Antabuse drinks, he develops a reaction in from 3 to 10 minutes, consisting of a flush, headache, nausea and vomiting, rapid heart beat and a feeling of great anxiety. Just how this drug works must be explained carefully to the patient since he is the one that takes it or skips it. Patients on Antabuse should be seen weekly for three to five weeks by their physician and after that at monthly intervals for as long as they continue to take, perhaps for 12 to 18 months if they are unable to abstain without it.

Some things we should keep in mind about alcoholics is that as a group they are very prone to anxiety, which they attempt to relieve with alcohol. Also, the alcoholic is frequently unable to express anger except when drinking so that his drinking bouts may follow after an argument, a disappointment, or a feeling that he is being imposed upon. They aso show a tendency to be over-enthusiastic or over-depressed about small things and this elation or disappointment may be the beginning of a bout. It requires time for an alcoholic to become used to being always sober and one or two "slips" are to be expected. Sometimes, if his conflicts with wife, mother-in-law or employer are brought out into the open and his feelings can be expressed, his tendency to rely on alcohol may lessen.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — After his first two months in the Upper House of Congress, Sen. Norris Cotton (R., N. H.) makes this comment:

"I am beginning to think that being in the Senate is like being in a steel mill. You had better spit on anything you are about to sit on. It may be hot."

WHAT SHE CLAIMS to be an untold story on Republican House Leader and Former Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts has been revealed by Bertha Adkins, assistant to GOP Chairman Leonard Hall.

The story goes back to Franklin D. Roosevelt's days. Martin, as House minority leader, was called to the White House for a legislative conference. But when he got to the gate he discovered that he had left his White House pass home.

A new guard on duty didn't recognize Martin and wouldn't let him in on his Elks' membership card, the only other identification Mr. Martin had on him at the time. But just then one of the Democratic leaders came along. He vouched for Martin and the two went in together.

The story got to the President, however, before the conference began. "Say, Joe," he cracked as Martin entered his office, "how did a Republican like you manage to get in here?"

Shot back Martin: "I used my Elks card."

WHEN SECRETARY of Commerce Sinclair Weeks swore in Louis S. Rotnschild as Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation, the secretary said to his new assistant, "You know, Louis, this is getting to be a habit with us."

"Yes, and let's not break it," replied Rothschild.

Weeks was referring to the fact that this was the third time in two years they had gone through the hand-on-the-Bible routine. Weeks first swore in Rotnschild as head of the Inland Waterways Corporation —which he promptly sold and liquidated, ending his job. Weeks then swore in Rothschild as head of the Maritime Administration.

DAPHNE ROBERT LEADS, assistant U. S. commissioner of patents, recently addressed a large, all-male group of chemical engineers. She is an attorney and is rated one of the nation's top experts on trademarks. In addition, she is a noted hat designer and a very attractive woman.

When she was introduced, the chairman said:

"And now I present the person with the best trade-mark you can have—charm and good looks."

SEN. ROBERT S. KERR (D., Okla.) is thinking about converting one room in the basement of his Washington home into a family bomb shelter. He got in touch with Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, who suggested the installation of a shield of lead as the best protection against atomic radiation.

When the senator let it be known that he lives within a few minutes drive of both the Capitol and the White House, however, Peterson came up with another plan. According to Kerr, the CDA head exclaimed:

"Brother, if you get an advance warning of enemy planes headed towards Washington, all I can say is that you'd better grab your family and start driving."

SEN. ALBEN W. BARKLEY (D., Ky.) delivered his maiden speech as a freshman senator the other day.

For the former "Veep" to have said nothing for nearly two months was in itself something of a record. The usually jovial Kentuckian admitted that he wasn't very happy.

"I regret that my first utterance in the Senate since my return to it should revolve around a raise in salary for members of Congress," he began. He then went on to state his opposition to that part of the bill which would give congressmen expenses for five round trips a year to their home states.

"It might well constitute a temptation for more absenteeism in the Senate," exclaimed Barkley. "I believe that would be deplorable.

"When our constituents look down on a practically empty chamber and go away with no explanation for the small attendance on the floor, I wonder what their impression of this great body may be. I have often been chagrined and sometimes humiliated because of the meager attendance on the floor of the Senat when important business was under consideration."

Realistic Art

A 74-gun Russian warship was set on fire and entirely destroyed to help a painter make his work realistic. Count Alexei Orloff, a Russian admiral, soon after his victory over the Turks in 1770, commissioner artist Jacob Philip Hackert, a German landscape artist, to paint a number of pictures celebrating the event. Hackert complained of his inability to portray faithfully a warship on fire, never having witnessed such an occurrence. Orloff commanded a 74-gun warship to be brought into position to suit the painter, and then had the ship burned.

Unless Democrats Play Stupid 'Yalta' Papers Should Not Hurt Them

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 21—There needn't be the slightest political damage to the Democratic party as a consequence of publication of the "Yalta" papers—unless, of course, some of the Democratic spokesmen play stupid politics. And there are some signs already that they are fumbling the ball.

Instead of crying out that there will be "international repercussions" and that our allies are offeneded by the publication of the documents, the Democrats should be denouncing "secret diplomacy" and pledging their party never to engage in it if entrusted to power.

The Democrats, moreover, should be pointing out that the late President Roosevelt did not in 1945 have any evidence of faithlessness on the part of the Soviet Union as a wartime ally and that he really was at the time angling for Russian participation in the war against Japan.

THE THESIS IS understandable though not forgiveable. In view of what has happened, particularly since the outbreak of the Communist aggression in Korea in 1950, there is no logical basis now for defending the Yalta agreements on any ground. Least of all should the Democratic party—the party that professes a belief in liberalism—be placing itself in the position of worrying about what any European government, steeped in the traditions of secret diplomacy and the deals of imperialism, may be saying in criticism of the full publicity of international agreements.

There is no objection to the confidential process of diplomatic negotiation which is far better than the "town hall" type of international conferences but it is essential that all the facts be made public once any agreements have been reached so that the Congress and the Parliaments can decide whether they shall be ratified.

IT WAS the tendency of both Mr. Roosevelt—and later President Truman — to make executive agreements binding the nation and affording Congress no opportunity to invalidate them which constitutes the real vice of the Yalta affair. Some form of constitutional amendment like Senator George's version of the Bricker amendment might be a way of preventing such practices.

The Democratic party will not win a presidential election for a long time to come if in ranges itself on the side of secrecy and suppression or shows all public controversies it an inclination to be soft on the anti-Communist issue itself. The convention last week of the "Americans for Democratic Action" which is perhaps the most powerful influence inside the Democratic Party councils today showed an almost even division between those who are really aware that a Communist conspiracy exists in the United States and those who insist on prating about "free speech" as the real issue. The latter forget that the greatest liberal of our times, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, declared in a Supreme Court opinion that freedom of speech has to be qualified where the national safety is at stake. He said that nobody has a right "to cry 'fire' in a crowded theatre."

THE DEMOCRATS can wipe the anti-Communist issue off the slate of present-day politics by taking a vigorous attitude toward exposure of the Communist conspiracy in all its ramifications — in American schools, labor unions, radio, television, the press, and the churches.

Only a few months ago the argument was being made that everybody was for these "objectives" and that there was only a difference of opinion on "methods" of ferreting out the wrongdoers. But it is becoming increasingly clear since the Democrats took over in both Houses of Congress that with a few exceptions in their ranks, like Senator Eastland of Mississippi and Representative Walters of Pennsylvania, the drive is on now to weaken the whole security program by hamstringing it with all sorts of restrictions. "The Daily Worker," the Communist organ, reveals the Communists' big interest in the restriction movement because it has carried on almost daily a bombardment of the existing security regulations. Obviously they need some correction but they need not be sabotaged.

THE DOCTRINE which many of the misguided ones, who are not aware that they are unwittingly playing the Communist game, express is that it is better for one guilty employe to be retained in the government than to have 50 innocent ones fired. But the argument collapses when it is possible that the guilty one can be a Klaus Fuchs. The American people would rather see supposedly innocent persons—including those who have had some doubtful connections—dropped from their posts than to let this government's atomic secrets or its inside information of a military or diplomatic nature leak to the enemy. For the leakage could result in the massacre of millions of innocent men, women and children in America.

The security issue is a complex one, and it never should have been in partisan politics. Like the controversy over the Yalta papers, it can be taken out of politics if all party leaders concerned see to it that the lessons learned by past mistakes are going to be heeded.

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader, has courageously fought against the appeasement elements in his party — those who would trust the Communists again and make a deal over Red China. If he is successful in lining up his party against appeasement on the Far Eastern issue there will be no political disadvantage to the Democrats, but instead a credit to each party. For there can be no partisan gain, and only a gain for the people as a whole, when both parties take a truly American position. This means championing the cause of international morality and renouncing the craven attitudes of expediency in government which now have brought on two world wars and could bring on another big conflict.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, March 21—I have further interesting tidings about our friend, Dr. Theodore Brameld. This joker is an expert in a phantom philosophy called human relations who got himself some publicity, perhaps not altogether to his taste, at a conversational hoedown in New York to sound an alarm against something which this consistory called anti-intellectualism. Brameld's timing was bad because just about then a young girl was murdered in a maisonette in Manhattan who had been studying human relations at New York U., where Brameld bends twigs. And it turned out that this earnest young brow was conducting practical experiments in human relations with a young married Negro in a flat just off the concrete campus.

Inquiries at New York U. had elicted only bashful evasions of the question whether the girl was one of Brameld's students and he has volunteered nothing. The papers intimated that the male partner in this research was a pedagog of minor degree. He seems to have been excused from the detectives' inquiries and James Armsey, the chancellor's press agent, has explained that New York U. does not concern itself with the private lives of graduate students. He refused to inquire whether the girl was a member of any of Brameld's classes. So, in the absence of any answer from the eminent savant himself, we will leave that one open. In case he decides to answer "yes" or "no", I will advise you.

In this weenie-roast in New York, Brameld held me up to either corn or admiration, as you may prefer, on the ground that I was a vehement skeptic as to the intellectual beauty of those present and the morality which they represent. The New York Times gave it a little more lineage than I would have thought these facts deserved but a great deal less than I think the story should have had by way of putting Brameld in focus. It quoted him but gave us none of his gamy political fragrance which would have been the readers' due because, in judging such characters, oftentimes your nose knows.

Now I have a great deal of stuff on Brameld, but I think you will enjoy and profit from another such philosophical outing in Old Greenwich, Conn., on Jan. 12 in which he and two other double-domes reproached unoffending burghers for self-centered smugness. Brameld, in particular crawled them for failure to give their children close contact with "other classes" so that they could achieve social and economic literacy. This was the purpose of the young girl in Greenwich Village so, although the poor kid flunked her master's any fair-minded "intellectual" should give her "A" for effort.

Some of the people of Old Greenwich got emotional. One woman said that in Old Greenwich they could protect their children not only from automobiles but "other things you run into." Brameld insisted children from "other economic groups" would improve the social hygiene, and peered down his snoot at the respectable little snobs of the attendance.

On the other side of the proposition, however, the New York public schools in many instances are by common consent of every decent parent whose children are condemned to them and some of the judiciary, too, horrible dens of depravity administered in many cases by genteel, decent teachers but in many others by pedagogs who are little better than beasts. Wilfred A. Waltemade, a justice of the Bronx Children's Court, on Feb. 25 said the educational system of the City of New York, a monster of fabulous complexity and size, was at fault for juvenile delinquency. He had just dealt with five boys, the oldest 10, who had beaten a 10-year-old girl, tied her to a tree and otherwise abused her. He said the center of the trouble was the public schools, which are maintained at enormous cost and seem to do little more good

It costs more to get an orange to a New York City housewife from a downtown market than it does to grow, grade, pack and ship the same orange from California to New York. It costs more also to deliver a quart of milk from a Brooklyn bottling plant to a consumer in neighboring Flatbush than the combined cost per quart of raising the feed, caring for and milking the cow, transporting and pasteurizing the raw milk, and pouring it into bottles.

These examples of faulty distribution are presented by David Kaplan, economist of the Teamsters Union, which is joining a cooperative effort to squeeze the waste out of our delivery system. Kaplan is convinced that the cause of these excessive costs is not greed nor overhigh wages, but faulty methods of handling, and unnecessary competition. The individual consumer may also bear some of the responsibility. Some of the special services he demands may prove to be unjustifiable economically.

Every city has glaring examples of waste like the above. Investigation might eliminate some of it, and help everyone from producer to consumer.

IT'S UNDERSTANDABLE

A psychologist named Peter Siegle has been investigating people's sleeping habits. He finds that most of us are pretty sluggish about getting out of bed in the morning.

His chief explanation is that in this time of trouble we're reluctant to face all the uncertainties ahead on any particular day.

In other words, no matter what transparent tricks we may use to cling to that bed a little longer, what we're actually doing is retreating from civilization.

It's understandable. From that warm, soft haven of blankets and pillows we can't see the wicked Kremlin (though admittedly a few do imagine that Khrushchev and his gang are under the box springs). The turbulent Formosa Straits don't flow nearby. The only fall-out we have to worry about is made up of dust and feathers.

The pressures of the market place and the strident tones of angry men debating public issues seem nightmarish fantasies. The tax collector is a fuzzy, only faintly disturbing image lost in a sea of softness and peace.

Is it any wonder we snarl at the alarm clock which sharply summons us away from this trouble-free island we call our bed?

This nightly exile from reality preserves our sanity as well as our physical being. And the way things are going, we'll probably be grabbing more time between the covers than ever before.

As a motorist edging your car in and out of congested traffic areas, you have a perfect right to insist on the right of way when you have it. Remember, of course, that fenders will crunch just as quickly whether you're right or wrong.

SURMOUNTING A HANDICAP

Every day there are new examples of what the handicapped can accomplish if they are given encouragement and opportunity.

Mary Kay Howard, a blind student at Flora Mather College of Western Reserve University, was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She is majoring in history and languages and this June she will receive her degree. Her mother and her fellow students have helped her by reading to her. Professors have cooperated by giving her oral assignments.

There was a time when society regarded the blind as objects of pity, unfortunate persons who could hope to do little more than bear their affliction with patience. Today we have come to realize that a handicapped person can achieve a useful, productive life and make valuable contributions to society. They ask only that we give them the chance to overcome their handicap.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A MATTER OF DEFINITION

I once heard a speaker startle an audience by asking: "Are you happy?"

The reaction was curious because obviously the happy people had never thought about it. They went their contented way.

Paul H. Appleby, who controls the happiness of the citizens of New York State because he manages their Budget, once defined civilization as:

". . . the attainment and further pursuit of social and personal complexity. This complexity is sought through division of labor and through specialization and extension of activity experience, and learning, all of which are possible only through progressively more intricate forms of social organization. . . ."

This could be a Marxian view of man as a functional creature whose nature and character are determined by his environment and the tools he uses for a livelihood. It omits morals, ethics, conscience, joy, pride in self, pride in family. Thomas Carlyle once defined modern civilization as having three great elements, Gunpowder, Printing and the Protestant Religion. Perhaps some philosopher today might say that it is atomic fission, electronics and fear.

To most of us, civilization means the lifting of man from a driven, fearful clod, existing only to perform his biological functions, to an ever higher respect for an aspiration to moral and spiritual values, the greatest of which is freedom of the mind and dignity of person.

One of the consequences of such a definition as Mr. Appleby's is the reduction of man into elites of specialists: A farmer may not be a plumber because he does not belong to the plumber's union; a teacher of Greek may not play a bassoon in a symphony orchestra unless he has James Petrillo's imprimatur; a citizen may not have a cracker-barrel discussion on fluoridation—a timely topic—because he is not a member of the American Dental Association. Yet Henry Ford did remarkable work on the internal combustion engine without having a degree from any university and Benjamin Franklin has been honored as a wise man and a philosopher without a better formal education than serving as a printer's devil.

George Bernard Shaw said:

". . . The Anarchist, the Fabian, the Salvationist, the Vegetarian, the doctor, the lawyer, the parson, the professor of ethics, the gymnast, the soldier, the sportsman, the inventor, the political program-maker, all have some prescription for bettering us; and almost all their remedies are physically possible and aimed at admitted evils. To them the limit of progress is, at worst, the completion of all the suggested reforms and the levelling up of all men to the point attained already by the most highly nourished and cultivated in mind and body."

Every time a plan for improving the entire human race by some artifice comes along, thousands join a cult and grow wildly and fanatically enthusiastic about it and insist not only an converting others, which is no crime, but having a law passed on the subject, which surely is a moral crime. My old friend, Bernarr Macfadden, tried to turn the world vegetarian. Macfadden only propagandized for his vegetables, but Volstead deprived a nation of beer by law and sent them to bath-tub gin and the reign of Al Capone.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, a learned and respected physician, makes the point that he favors fluoridation because some experts favor it. He says:

"To me, the distressing feature of all this fight about fluoridation is that people who know absolutely nothing about the subject refused to take the advice of the leading health authorities in the land who alone are competent to review the facts and to decide what should be done. . . ."

Does that make anything right? Those who were paid to be our experts in the State Department got us into that complex of miseries that came out of the Yalta Conference. Were they right because we paid them to know? Dr. Alvarez uses iodized salt as an example of virtuous living. But we are not forced to buy iodized salt; we are still free to buy plain salt. And nobody pours gallons of iodine into our drinking water. It is the compulsion to follow what one does not accept that is the difference between a free society and Mr. Appleby's society.

The theory of government by experts is not new. Sparta had it and Plato believed in it. But Lincoln preferred a government of, by, and for the people which is what we like hereabouts.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLISM

Just at what point an alcoholic becomes an an alcoholic, rather than just a heavy social drinker, is difficult to determine. However, as a general rule, we may say that a person who continues to overindulge in liquor after his drinking has repeatedly caused him financial or domestic trouble is an alcoholic. Some old ideas about alcoholism—that a man must drink alone, must drink in the morning, or become very obviously intoxicated in order to qualify as an alcoholic — are just not true. A patient may be severely alcoholic for years and never become openly drunk or completely sober. Housewives, because of the privacy their homes give them, may conceal their dependence on alcohol for months or years.

However, the old saying, "once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic," is quite true; there can be no compromise. A single drink will always end in a drinking bout. "At the end of a bout, the patient's resolve to stop drinking is at a peak and he is most likely to seek treatment from his doctor at this time." What can his doctor do for him?

Of course, the first thing is to restore him to a normal physical state of health, building up his general health and making sure he receives the food elements, such as vitamins, that he has been lacking during the drinking bout. Long-acting quiteing drugs, such as chloral hydrate, paralyehyde and Mebaral, are helpful during the first few days.

Antabuse, which we have discussed before, "appears to be the most effective means of treating the chronic alcoholic available in general practice." When a patient taking Antabuse drinks, he develops a reaction in from 3 to 10 minutes, consisting of a flush, headache, nausea and vomiting, rapid heart beat and a feeling of great anxiety. Just how this drug works must be explained carefully to the patient since he is the one that takes it or skips it. Patients on Antabuse should be seen weekly for three to five weeks by their physician and after that at monthly intervals for as long as they continue to take, perhaps for 12 to 18 months if they are unable to abstain without it.

Some things we should keep in mind about alcoholics is that as a group they are very prone to anxiety, which they attempt to relieve with alcohol. Also, the alcoholic is frequently unable to express anger except when drinking so that his drinking bouts may follow after an argument, a disappointment, or a feeling that he is being imposed upon. They aso show a tendency to be over-enthusiastic or over-depressed about small things and this elation or disappointment may be the beginning of a bout. It requires time for an alcoholic to become used to being always sober and one or two "slips" are to be expected. Sometimes, if his conflicts with wife, mother-in-law or employer are brought out into the open and his feelings can be expressed, his tendency to rely on alcohol may lessen.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — After his first two months in the Upper House of Congress, Sen. Norris Cotton (R., N. H.) makes this comment:

"I am beginning to think that being in the Senate is like being in a steel mill. You had better spit on anything you are about to sit on. It may be hot."

WHAT SHE CLAIMS to be an untold story on Republican House Leader and Former Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts has been revealed by Bertha Adkins, assistant to GOP Chairman Leonard Hall.

The story goes back to Franklin D. Roosevelt's days. Martin, as House minority leader, was called to the White House for a legislative conference. But when he got to the gate he discovered that he had left his White House pass home.

A new guard on duty didn't recognize Martin and wouldn't let him in on his Elks' membership card, the only other identification Mr. Martin had on him at the time. But just then one of the Democratic leaders came along. He vouched for Martin and the two went in together.

The story got to the President, however, before the conference began. "Say, Joe," he cracked as Martin entered his office, "how did a Republican like you manage to get in here?"

Shot back Martin: "I used my Elks card."

WHEN SECRETARY of Commerce Sinclair Weeks swore in Louis S. Rotnschild as Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation, the secretary said to his new assistant, "You know, Louis, this is getting to be a habit with us."

"Yes, and let's not break it," replied Rothschild.

Weeks was referring to the fact that this was the third time in two years they had gone through the hand-on-the-Bible routine. Weeks first swore in Rotnschild as head of the Inland Waterways Corporation —which he promptly sold and liquidated, ending his job. Weeks then swore in Rothschild as head of the Maritime Administration.

DAPHNE ROBERT LEADS, assistant U. S. commissioner of patents, recently addressed a large, all-male group of chemical engineers. She is an attorney and is rated one of the nation's top experts on trademarks. In addition, she is a noted hat designer and a very attractive woman.

When she was introduced, the chairman said:

"And now I present the person with the best trade-mark you can have—charm and good looks."

SEN. ROBERT S. KERR (D., Okla.) is thinking about converting one room in the basement of his Washington home into a family bomb shelter. He got in touch with Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, who suggested the installation of a shield of lead as the best protection against atomic radiation.

When the senator let it be known that he lives within a few minutes drive of both the Capitol and the White House, however, Peterson came up with another plan. According to Kerr, the CDA head exclaimed:

"Brother, if you get an advance warning of enemy planes headed towards Washington, all I can say is that you'd better grab your family and start driving."

SEN. ALBEN W. BARKLEY (D., Ky.) delivered his maiden speech as a freshman senator the other day.

For the former "Veep" to have said nothing for nearly two months was in itself something of a record. The usually jovial Kentuckian admitted that he wasn't very happy.

"I regret that my first utterance in the Senate since my return to it should revolve around a raise in salary for members of Congress," he began. He then went on to state his opposition to that part of the bill which would give congressmen expenses for five round trips a year to their home states.

"It might well constitute a temptation for more absenteeism in the Senate," exclaimed Barkley. "I believe that would be deplorable.

"When our constituents look down on a practically empty chamber and go away with no explanation for the small attendance on the floor, I wonder what their impression of this great body may be. I have often been chagrined and sometimes humiliated because of the meager attendance on the floor of the Senat when important business was under consideration."

Realistic Art

A 74-gun Russian warship was set on fire and entirely destroyed to help a painter make his work realistic. Count Alexei Orloff, a Russian admiral, soon after his victory over the Turks in 1770, commissioner artist Jacob Philip Hackert, a German landscape artist, to paint a number of pictures celebrating the event. Hackert complained of his inability to portray faithfully a warship on fire, never having witnessed such an occurrence. Orloff commanded a 74-gun warship to be brought into position to suit the painter, and then had the ship burned.

Unless Democrats Play Stupid 'Yalta' Papers Should Not Hurt Them

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 21—There needn't be the slightest political damage to the Democratic party as a consequence of publication of the "Yalta" papers—unless, of course, some of the Democratic spokesmen play stupid politics. And there are some signs already that they are fumbling the ball.

Instead of crying out that there will be "international repercussions" and that our allies are offeneded by the publication of the documents, the Democrats should be denouncing "secret diplomacy" and pledging their party never to engage in it if entrusted to power.

The Democrats, moreover, should be pointing out that the late President Roosevelt did not in 1945 have any evidence of faithlessness on the part of the Soviet Union as a wartime ally and that he really was at the time angling for Russian participation in the war against Japan.

THE THESIS IS understandable though not forgiveable. In view of what has happened, particularly since the outbreak of the Communist aggression in Korea in 1950, there is no logical basis now for defending the Yalta agreements on any ground. Least of all should the Democratic party—the party that professes a belief in liberalism—be placing itself in the position of worrying about what any European government, steeped in the traditions of secret diplomacy and the deals of imperialism, may be saying in criticism of the full publicity of international agreements.

There is no objection to the confidential process of diplomatic negotiation which is far better than the "town hall" type of international conferences but it is essential that all the facts be made public once any agreements have been reached so that the Congress and the Parliaments can decide whether they shall be ratified.

IT WAS the tendency of both Mr. Roosevelt—and later President Truman — to make executive agreements binding the nation and affording Congress no opportunity to invalidate them which constitutes the real vice of the Yalta affair. Some form of constitutional amendment like Senator George's version of the Bricker amendment might be a way of preventing such practices.

The Democratic party will not win a presidential election for a long time to come if in ranges itself on the side of secrecy and suppression or shows all public controversies it an inclination to be soft on the anti-Communist issue itself. The convention last week of the "Americans for Democratic Action" which is perhaps the most powerful influence inside the Democratic Party councils today showed an almost even division between those who are really aware that a Communist conspiracy exists in the United States and those who insist on prating about "free speech" as the real issue. The latter forget that the greatest liberal of our times, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, declared in a Supreme Court opinion that freedom of speech has to be qualified where the national safety is at stake. He said that nobody has a right "to cry 'fire' in a crowded theatre."

THE DEMOCRATS can wipe the anti-Communist issue off the slate of present-day politics by taking a vigorous attitude toward exposure of the Communist conspiracy in all its ramifications — in American schools, labor unions, radio, television, the press, and the churches.

Only a few months ago the argument was being made that everybody was for these "objectives" and that there was only a difference of opinion on "methods" of ferreting out the wrongdoers. But it is becoming increasingly clear since the Democrats took over in both Houses of Congress that with a few exceptions in their ranks, like Senator Eastland of Mississippi and Representative Walters of Pennsylvania, the drive is on now to weaken the whole security program by hamstringing it with all sorts of restrictions. "The Daily Worker," the Communist organ, reveals the Communists' big interest in the restriction movement because it has carried on almost daily a bombardment of the existing security regulations. Obviously they need some correction but they need not be sabotaged.

THE DOCTRINE which many of the misguided ones, who are not aware that they are unwittingly playing the Communist game, express is that it is better for one guilty employe to be retained in the government than to have 50 innocent ones fired. But the argument collapses when it is possible that the guilty one can be a Klaus Fuchs. The American people would rather see supposedly innocent persons—including those who have had some doubtful connections—dropped from their posts than to let this government's atomic secrets or its inside information of a military or diplomatic nature leak to the enemy. For the leakage could result in the massacre of millions of innocent men, women and children in America.

The security issue is a complex one, and it never should have been in partisan politics. Like the controversy over the Yalta papers, it can be taken out of politics if all party leaders concerned see to it that the lessons learned by past mistakes are going to be heeded.

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader, has courageously fought against the appeasement elements in his party — those who would trust the Communists again and make a deal over Red China. If he is successful in lining up his party against appeasement on the Far Eastern issue there will be no political disadvantage to the Democrats, but instead a credit to each party. For there can be no partisan gain, and only a gain for the people as a whole, when both parties take a truly American position. This means championing the cause of international morality and renouncing the craven attitudes of expediency in government which now have brought on two world wars and could bring on another big conflict.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, March 21—I have further interesting tidings about our friend, Dr. Theodore Brameld. This joker is an expert in a phantom philosophy called human relations who got himself some publicity, perhaps not altogether to his taste, at a conversational hoedown in New York to sound an alarm against something which this consistory called anti-intellectualism. Brameld's timing was bad because just about then a young girl was murdered in a maisonette in Manhattan who had been studying human relations at New York U., where Brameld bends twigs. And it turned out that this earnest young brow was conducting practical experiments in human relations with a young married Negro in a flat just off the concrete campus.

Inquiries at New York U. had elicted only bashful evasions of the question whether the girl was one of Brameld's students and he has volunteered nothing. The papers intimated that the male partner in this research was a pedagog of minor degree. He seems to have been excused from the detectives' inquiries and James Armsey, the chancellor's press agent, has explained that New York U. does not concern itself with the private lives of graduate students. He refused to inquire whether the girl was a member of any of Brameld's classes. So, in the absence of any answer from the eminent savant himself, we will leave that one open. In case he decides to answer "yes" or "no", I will advise you.

In this weenie-roast in New York, Brameld held me up to either corn or admiration, as you may prefer, on the ground that I was a vehement skeptic as to the intellectual beauty of those present and the morality which they represent. The New York Times gave it a little more lineage than I would have thought these facts deserved but a great deal less than I think the story should have had by way of putting Brameld in focus. It quoted him but gave us none of his gamy political fragrance which would have been the readers' due because, in judging such characters, oftentimes your nose knows.

Now I have a great deal of stuff on Brameld, but I think you will enjoy and profit from another such philosophical outing in Old Greenwich, Conn., on Jan. 12 in which he and two other double-domes reproached unoffending burghers for self-centered smugness. Brameld, in particular crawled them for failure to give their children close contact with "other classes" so that they could achieve social and economic literacy. This was the purpose of the young girl in Greenwich Village so, although the poor kid flunked her master's any fair-minded "intellectual" should give her "A" for effort.

Some of the people of Old Greenwich got emotional. One woman said that in Old Greenwich they could protect their children not only from automobiles but "other things you run into." Brameld insisted children from "other economic groups" would improve the social hygiene, and peered down his snoot at the respectable little snobs of the attendance.

On the other side of the proposition, however, the New York public schools in many instances are by common consent of every decent parent whose children are condemned to them and some of the judiciary, too, horrible dens of depravity administered in many cases by genteel, decent teachers but in many others by pedagogs who are little better than beasts. Wilfred A. Waltemade, a justice of the Bronx Children's Court, on Feb. 25 said the educational system of the City of New York, a monster of fabulous complexity and size, was at fault for juvenile delinquency. He had just dealt with five boys, the oldest 10, who had beaten a 10-year-old girl, tied her to a tree and otherwise abused her. He said the center of the trouble was the public schools, which are maintained at enormous cost and seem to do little more good

Chairmen Are Named For Cancer Campaign

April has been designated as Cancer Control Month by President Eisenhower, Governor Harriman and Mayor Fred Stang.

From the office of Ulster county campaign headquarters in the Millard building, central post office square in Kingston, it was announced that the following will constitute the executive committee for the crusade of the American Cancer Society during the month of April.

General chairman, Charles M. Rinschler.

City of Kingston chairman, James T. Little.

Suburban chairman, Parran A. Gates.

Chairlady of the women's division, Mrs. Clarence Beehler.

Telephone campaign chairman, Samuel Nussbaum.

Special gifts chairman, Edward Schrowang.

Campaign treasurer, William J. Robertson.

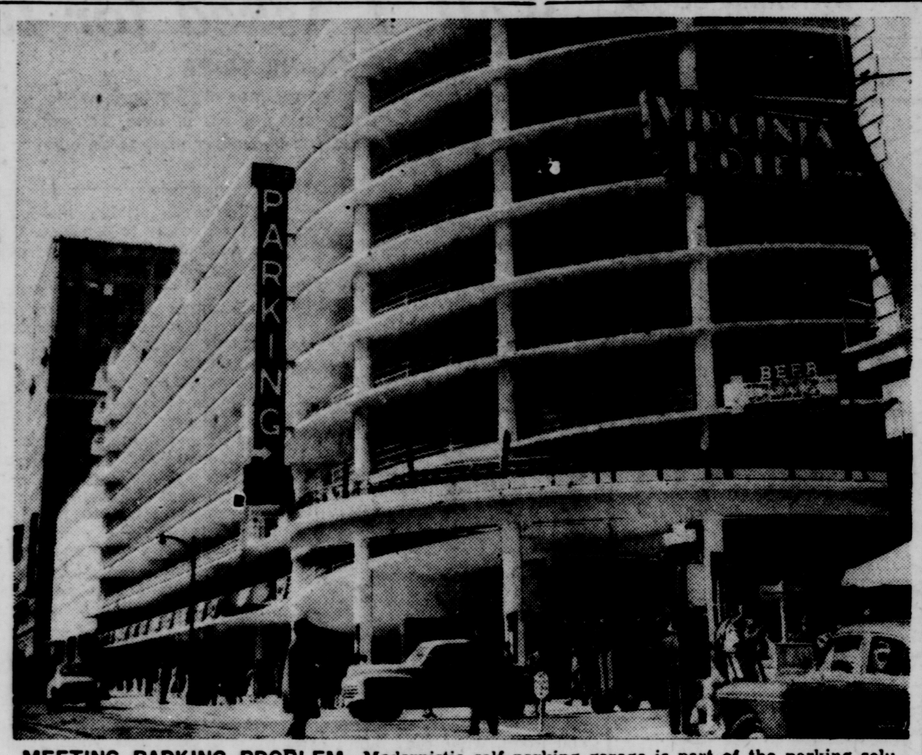

LAST YEAR the society raised $16,000 in Ulster county. "Both the national and local goal have been increased this year," City Chairman James T. Little explained today at his office in IBM, "because of the increased demands for funds for research, education and service to the cancer patient. There can be no slackening in our research program—the greatest ever put into action against a disease."

Township chairmen have been contacted and suggestions made for the local area campaigns. Through the generosity of an Ulster county resident the cost of the American Cancer Society booth at the Lions Club Exposition was donated, enabling this crusade to contact all visitors to the exposition with their education material relative to the early detection of cancer. On March 29 the annual dinner of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society, will be held at which details of the county wide solicitation campaign will be announced.

AT THE RATE that volunteer assistance has been tendered to this campaign committee by the people of Ulster county, a very successful campaign seems to be indicated. While the crusade is not underway at present, several organizations have already sent their contributions in this fight against cancer, man's cruelest enemy.

Mrs. Clarence Beehler of the women's division reported that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union has already requested that it be contacted for a contribution during the crusade. A check of the past records indicate the previous cancer crusades in this area were always well supported by labor organizations, banks, social and fraternal groups, which appears to be another indication of the determination of the American people to find the cause of cancer and eliminate it as soon as humanly possible.

AT THIS EARLY date the committee feels free to state that the campaign will be a two-phase effort with a definite attempt to have raised the quota by April 25. In planning the crusade an endeavor is being made to give back to the volunteers, the donors and the community some recognition for their cooperation. The committee trusts the final plans for this event will find favor with the people of Ulster county.

MEETING PARKING PROBLEM—Modernistic self-parking garage is part of the parking solution for downtown San Francisco, Calif. Autos are parked in the garage, which has a 1200-car capacity, in stalls at a 45-degree angle. Owners claim cars can be in or out on the special ramps in about two minutes.

Budget Is Approved

Paris, March 21 (AP)—France's National Assembly has approved a budget anticipating nearly nine billion dollars in government income this year. But with military expenditures still to be figured, the intake is expected to fall about 10 per cent short of spending. The Assembly approved the measure in a post-midnight session yesterday by a vote of 392-211. It anticipates an income of 3,080,500,000,000 (trillion) francs ($8,800,000,000). Premier Edgar Faure already has promised to revise the nation's controversial tax structure to meet complaints of irate small businessmen and shopkeepers.

Russian Help Asked

Fulda, Germany, March 21 (AP)—American officials reportedly have asked Soviet authorities to help find a missing U. S. Army helicopter believed down in Communist East Germany. A 7th Army spokesman said there was a strong chance the craft—missing since Thursday with an American officer and a German civilian aboard—had been carried across the border by strong winds. The aircraft disappeared on a flight in the vicinity of Fulda, 12 miles east of the German border. The names of the pilot and the passenger, a German employed by a labor service battalion, have been withheld pending developments.

Plenty to Be Done

When the world's largest passenger liner, the Queen Elizabeth, docks in New York harbor she lands as many as 2,000 travelers and their baggage, gets a stem-to-stern cleaning, loads enough food for 100,000 meals per round-trip voyage, and embarks another 2,000 passengers—all within a normal two-day turnaround.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, March 19—The appointment of a general chairman and other key officers will be the first order of business when the steering and underwriting committees of the Ellenville Sesquicentennial Committee meet, it was announced by Vernon Kelder, temporary chairman. The plan of action and other data has arrived and is at the office of Robert V. Stapleton, where it is available for inspection by committee members, Kelder said.

The Ellenville Central School Board increased by a month its age requirements for entrance to kindergarten and first grade pupils during the course of its regular March meeting Thursday night at the Maple avenue school. The kindergarten requirements will become effective next September, while those for the first grade will not be effective until September 1956.

The Democratic party ended four years of Republican control of the village board Tuesday by electing three of their candidates in an annual village election which saw the second largest vote ever cast here attract 1570 to the polls at Hunt Memorial Hall. Eugene Glusker, a present village trustee defeated Frank Muller, seeking his third term, by 173 votes, 857 to 684 in the mayoralty. Cyrus Depuy a former trustee, and William Graham, a former mayor, received 881 and 826 votes respectively, in support of Glusker. Their Republican opponents, Willard H. Peet and R. Earl Haley were given 723 and 625 votes. When the 1955-1956 board takes office on April 4, Glusker will resign as trustee to become mayor and the first order of business will be the appointment by the board of a trustee to fill out Glusker's unexpired term.

Chairmen Are Named For Cancer Campaign

April has been designated as Cancer Control Month by President Eisenhower, Governor Harriman and Mayor Fred Stang.

From the office of Ulster county campaign headquarters in the Millard building, central post office square in Kingston, it was announced that the following will constitute the executive committee for the crusade of the American Cancer Society during the month of April.

General chairman, Charles M. Rinschler.

City of Kingston chairman, James T. Little.

Suburban chairman, Parran A. Gates.

Chairlady of the women's division, Mrs. Clarence Beehler.

Telephone campaign chairman, Samuel Nussbaum.

Special gifts chairman, Edward Schrowang.

Campaign treasurer, William J. Robertson.

LAST YEAR the society raised $16,000 in Ulster county. "Both the national and local goal have been increased this year," City Chairman James T. Little explained today at his office in IBM, "because of the increased demands for funds for research, education and service to the cancer patient. There can be no slackening in our research program—the greatest ever put into action against a disease."

Township chairmen have been contacted and suggestions made for the local area campaigns. Through the generosity of an Ulster county resident the cost of the American Cancer Society booth at the Lions Club Exposition was donated, enabling this crusade to contact all visitors to the exposition with their education material relative to the early detection of cancer. On March 29 the annual dinner of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society, will be held at which details of the county wide solicitation campaign will be announced.

AT THE RATE that volunteer assistance has been tendered to this campaign committee by the people of Ulster county, a very successful campaign seems to be indicated. While the crusade is not underway at present, several organizations have already sent their contributions in this fight against cancer, man's cruelest enemy.

Mrs. Clarence Beehler of the women's division reported that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union has already requested that it be contacted for a contribution during the crusade. A check of the past records indicate the previous cancer crusades in this area were always well supported by labor organizations, banks, social and fraternal groups, which appears to be another indication of the determination of the American people to find the cause of cancer and eliminate it as soon as humanly possible.

AT THIS EARLY date the committee feels free to state that the campaign will be a two-phase effort with a definite attempt to have raised the quota by April 25. In planning the crusade an endeavor is being made to give back to the volunteers, the donors and the community some recognition for their cooperation. The committee trusts the final plans for this event will find favor with the people of Ulster county.

Budget Is Approved

Paris, March 21 (AP)—France's National Assembly has approved a budget anticipating nearly nine billion dollars in government income this year. But with military expenditures still to be figured, the intake is expected to fall about 10 per cent short of spending. The Assembly approved the measure in a post-midnight session yesterday by a vote of 392-211. It anticipates an income of 3,080,500,000,000 (trillion) francs ($8,800,000,000). Premier Edgar Faure already has promised to revise the nation's controversial tax structure to meet complaints of irate small businessmen and shopkeepers.

MEETING PARKING PROBLEM—Modernistic self-parking garage is part of the parking solution for downtown San Francisco, Calif. Autos are parked in the garage, which has a 1200-car capacity, in stalls at a 45-degree angle. Owners claim cars can be in or out on the special ramps in about two minutes.

Russian Help Asked

Fulda, Germany, March 21 (AP)—American officials reportedly have asked Soviet authorities to help find a missing U. S. Army helicopter believed down in Communist East Germany. A 7th Army spokesman said there was a strong chance the craft—missing since Thursday with an American officer and a German civilian aboard—had been carried across the border by strong winds. The aircraft disappeared on a flight in the vicinity of Fulda, 12 miles east of the German border. The names of the pilot and the passenger, a German employed by a labor service battalion, have been withheld pending developments.

Plenty to Be Done

When the world's largest passenger liner, the Queen Elizabeth, docks in New York harbor she lands as many as 2,000 travelers and their baggage, gets a stem-to-stern cleaning, loads enough food for 100,000 meals per round-trip voyage, and embarks another 2,000 passengers—all within a normal two-day turnaround.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, March 19—The appointment of a general chairman and other key officers will be the first order of business when the steering and underwriting committees of the Ellenville Sesquicentennial Committee meet, it was announced by Vernon Kelder, temporary chairman. The plan of action and other data has arrived and is at the office of Robert V. Stapleton, where it is available for inspection by committee members, Kelder said.

The Ellenville Central School Board increased by a month its age requirements for entrance to kindergarten and first grade pupils during the course of its regular March meeting Thursday night at the Maple avenue school. The kindergarten requirements will become effective next September, while those for the first grade will not be effective until September 1956.

The Democratic party ended four years of Republican control of the village board Tuesday by electing three of their candidates in an annual village election which saw the second largest vote ever cast here attract 1570 to the polls at Hunt Memorial Hall. Eugene Glusker, a present village trustee defeated Frank Muller, seeking his third term, by 173 votes, 857 to 684 in the mayoralty. Cyrus Depuy a former trustee, and William Graham, a former mayor, received 881 and 826 votes respectively, in support of Glusker. Their Republican opponents, Willard H. Peet and R. Earl Haley were given 723 and 625 votes. When the 1955-1956 board takes office on April 4, Glusker will resign as trustee to become mayor and the first order of business will be the appointment by the board of a trustee to fill out Glusker's unexpired term.

Merrill Wiliams of 22 Center street was elected commander of the Edgar S. Taylor Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the annual meeting of the organization Wednesday night at the post home.

Demonstration talks are projects requiring verbal explanation, i.e., giving details and explaning the results of experiments. Classification include biology, physics, chemistry and general science.

Winners from the Kingston Science Fair will be eligible for the Sectional at High Falls April 2.

The committees formed to promote the Science Fair are advertising committee, Rose Rammer, Bob Fisher, Howard Marcon, Peter Spader and Vincent Coons, chairman; project committee, Emile Bight, chairman, Mary Whitford, Peter Spader and Jerome Kingsburg; membership committee, Howard Marcon, chairman, Bob Fisher, Richard DeDona, Mary Leirey. The prize committee has not yet been formed.

One of the features of the evening will be Ralph Shapiro, who will talk on snakes. Shapiro, at one time, was associated with the Ross Allen Snake Institute at Silver Springs, Florida. Because of his experience, Shapiro's speech should prove to be both informative and interesting.

THE LATEST TOPIC of discussion at the Student Council is a Student Court. This was voted on in several homerooms and it was decided that a Student Court would be favorable. The court will be run by reliable members of Student Council in a democratic way.

One point of the discussion was the fact that Student Courts have been established in a number of schools throughout the country had have often proved succesful.

If the Student Court is definitely decided, it will be run by the students instead of teachers.

SPORTS HISTORY was made March 5 when KHS entered a wrestling squad under the direction of Coach Bill Hurley for scholastic competition. The school entered five out of the possible 12 divisions in the Section Nine tournament and took second place with each boy receiving a silver medal.

THE PENNY CARNIVAL sponsored by Tri-Hi will be held April 2 at the Kate Walton Field House. From 7:30 to 9 p. m. various booths will be open including camera and games. Dancing will be held from 9 p. m. to 12 midnight.

General chairman is Barbara Maines with Barbara Zimmerman, chairman of the carnival and Valerie Quick chairman of the dance.

TEN CANDIDATES competed in a history quiz sponsored by the Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars. The quiz was held March 10 at an A assembly. The students were chosen on the basis of a test presented to all the 12th year history classes. Those taking part were Lois Brown, Caroline DeWitt, Myron Epstein, Robert Hart, Christiana Keith, Thomas Lamb, Barbara Miller, Kenneth Muller, Louis Nardi and Mary Lou Snyder.

First prize went to Caroline DeWitt. She won a $25 U. S. Savings Bond. Second place, $10, and third place, $5 were won by Myron Epstein and Lois Brown respectively. A consolation prize was presented to the other participants. Prizes were awarded by Mrs. Pauline Robbins.

MR. BALLIN'S Retailing I classes sponsored a demonstration given by the National Cash Register Company. Lawrence Guess, a former Kingston High School student and now a salesman for the company, was in charge of the demonstration.

Guess pointed out that everyone in retail selling has two major duties. One is to handle the money and merchandise correctly and the second is to build good-will for the store.

This register was one of National's newest models. It added up the total sales, subtracts the amount given to the retailer by the consumer and states the correct amount of change the consumer is to receive. Some of the students participated in the demonstration which was followed by a question-answer period.

Guess said that there are many opportunities for high school graduates with his company.

BOB STEELE, former Olympic and wrestling champion, and well-known business man in Kingston, was guest speaker in an assembly for Loryne Connick's and Mr. Ballin's Retailing classes March 2.

Steele explained how he started his business career. The topic of discussion was Showmanship in Selling. He said that he learned most of his retailing showmanship through the wrestling field. His main theme on selling was, "You have to build up the buyer's confidence in the seller."

A resident of Kingston for nine years, Steele is married, and is the father of six children. He started his wrestling career after he was discharged from service and from there he went into his own business.

Well, I Asked for It

By FRANK TRIPP

Everybody now and then runs into one of those weeks when the world seems cockeyed, everything out of tune. The only way to escape them is to do nothing and never express an opinion on any topic.

That's easy for some folks; others can't open their big mouth without putting their foot in it. Guess I'm one of the latter, which is okay by me.

I just passed through such a week. When the returns came in on "Salt Did Me In" and "I Gotta Work," two recent effusions by this chronicler.

You can write about dogs, ye olden tymes, mother, or praise anything to the skies and get the nicest, sweetest notes from all over the country. Then it seems time to write something "constructive"—and, brother, the wires begin to sizzle and the postal laws get violated by the names you're called.

What the birds that I called "stinkers" for shirking work and living off honest men's wages and taxes, what they didn't call me hasn't been thought of yet. I feel highly honored by their contempt.

ONE OF my editors wrote me, "You're going to hear plenty about 'I Gotta Work'." He prophesied wisely. I have heard both pro and con. Some of the cons take the cake; here are a few excerpts:

"You're the stinker, making it hard for a guy to get some time off on that easy money that's floating around."

Another patriot says, "Your scrubwoman is a sucker. She could get more money working half of that time and taking odd jobs when on relief, like I do. So I'm not sorry for her."

They're all too smart to sign their names, of course. "The damned newspapers talk as if they are paying the bill. What business is it of theirs if the government pays the shot? The government only has to print the money."

Here's a pal: "I only hope that some day you get where you couldn't take a rest any other way and the relief guys get wise to you."

The philosophy of all of them is expressed in this one: "We elected the lawmakers who gave us easy going, and we'll keep 'em elected. We are entitled to all we can get and your yelping can't stop it."

Not one of them observed that their "easy money" comes out of your payroll deductions and taxes because you "gotta work."

THE FLAREBACKS on "Salt Did Me In" were along a more intelligent and justifiable line and deserve serious attention, lest someone tries to administer a salt-free diet for himself.

Don't do it, I said. "Take this to your doctor and do as he says," I put it. Maybe it better be said again. The Illinois State Medical Society says: "No individual should attempt to maintain a 'salt-free' or 'low sodium' diet except under close, constant supervision of a physician. It is dangerous to disturb the salt balance of the body."

Solely as a weight reducer it won't work; and is prescribed, even with some risk, by doctors mainly in heart and kidney diseases, and edema, old-fashioned "dropsy." Don't do it on your own because a doctor who knows your case must be ready to immediately increase your salt intake in proper proportion. It could be disastrous, even fatal, if neglected.

So, pal, if you're planning to lay off Salt and lose 16 pounds in four days, do it the way I did—in a hospital, under the care of a bang-up good doctor or three.

Just in case I made it look too easy for the fat boys—and girls.

THE LATEST TOPIC of discussion at the Student Council is a Student Court. This was voted on in several homerooms and it was decided that a Student Court would be favorable. The court will be run by reliable members of Student Council in a democratic way.

One point of the discussion was the fact that Student Courts have been established in a number of schools throughout the country had have often proved succesful.

If the Student Court is definitely decided, it will be run by the students instead of teachers.

SPORTS HISTORY was made March 5 when KHS entered a wrestling squad under the direction of Coach Bill Hurley for scholastic competition. The school entered five out of the possible 12 divisions in the Section Nine tournament and took second place with each boy receiving a silver medal.

MR. BALLIN'S Retailing I classes sponsored a demonstration given by the National Cash Register Company. Lawrence Guess, a former Kingston High School student and now a salesman for the company, was in charge of the demonstration.

Guess pointed out that everyone in retail selling has two major duties. One is to handle the money and merchandise correctly and the second is to build good-will for the store.

This register was one of National's newest models. It added up the total sales, subtracts the amount given to the retailer by the consumer and states the correct amount of change the consumer is to receive. Some of the students participated in the demonstration which was followed by a question-answer period.

Guess said that there are many opportunities for high school graduates with his company.

BOB STEELE, former Olympic and wrestling champion, and well-known business man in Kingston, was guest speaker in an assembly for Loryne Connick's and Mr. Ballin's Retailing classes March 2.

Steele explained how he started his business career. The topic of discussion was Showmanship in Selling. He said that he learned most of his retailing showmanship through the wrestling field. His main theme on selling was, "You have to build up the buyer's confidence in the seller."

A resident of Kingston for nine years, Steele is married, and is the father of six children. He started his wrestling career after he was discharged from service and from there he went into his own business.

Well, I Asked for It

By FRANK TRIPP

Everybody now and then runs into one of those weeks when the world seems cockeyed, everything out of tune. The only way to escape them is to do nothing and never express an opinion on any topic.

That's easy for some folks; others can't open their big mouth without putting their foot in it. Guess I'm one of the latter, which is okay by me.

I just passed through such a week. When the returns came in on "Salt Did Me In" and "I Gotta Work," two recent effusions by this chronicler.

You can write about dogs, ye olden tymes, mother, or praise anything to the skies and get the nicest, sweetest notes from all over the country. Then it seems time to write something "constructive"—and, brother, the wires begin to sizzle and the postal laws get violated by the names you're called.

What the birds that I called "stinkers" for shirking work and living off honest men's wages and taxes, what they didn't call me hasn't been thought of yet. I feel highly honored by their contempt.

ONE OF my editors wrote me, "You're going to hear plenty about 'I Gotta Work'." He prophesied wisely. I have heard both pro and con. Some of the cons take the cake; here are a few excerpts:

"You're the stinker, making it hard for a guy to get some time off on that easy money that's floating around."

Another patriot says, "Your scrubwoman is a sucker. She could get more money working half of that time and taking odd jobs when on relief, like I do. So I'm not sorry for her."

They're all too smart to sign their names, of course. "The damned newspapers talk as if they are paying the bill. What business is it of theirs if the government pays the shot? The government only has to print the money."

Here's a pal: "I only hope that some day you get where you couldn't take a rest any other way and the relief guys get wise to you."

The philosophy of all of them is expressed in this one: "We elected the lawmakers who gave us easy going, and we'll keep 'em elected. We are entitled to all we can get and your yelping can't stop it."

Not one of them observed that their "easy money" comes out of your payroll deductions and taxes because you "gotta work."

THE FLAREBACKS on "Salt Did Me In" were along a more intelligent and justifiable line and deserve serious attention, lest someone tries to administer a salt-free diet for himself.

Don't do it, I said. "Take this to your doctor and do as he says." I put it. Maybe it better be said again. The Illinois State Medical Society says: "No individual should attempt to maintain a 'salt-free' or 'low sodium' diet except under close, constant supervision of a physician. It is dangerous to disturb the salt balance of the body."

Solely as a weight reducer it won't work; and is prescribed, even with some risk, by doctors mainly in heart and kidney diseases, and edema, old-fashioned "dropsy." Don't do it on your own because a doctor who knows your case must be ready to immediately increase your salt intake in proper proportion. It could be disastrous, even fatal, if neglected.

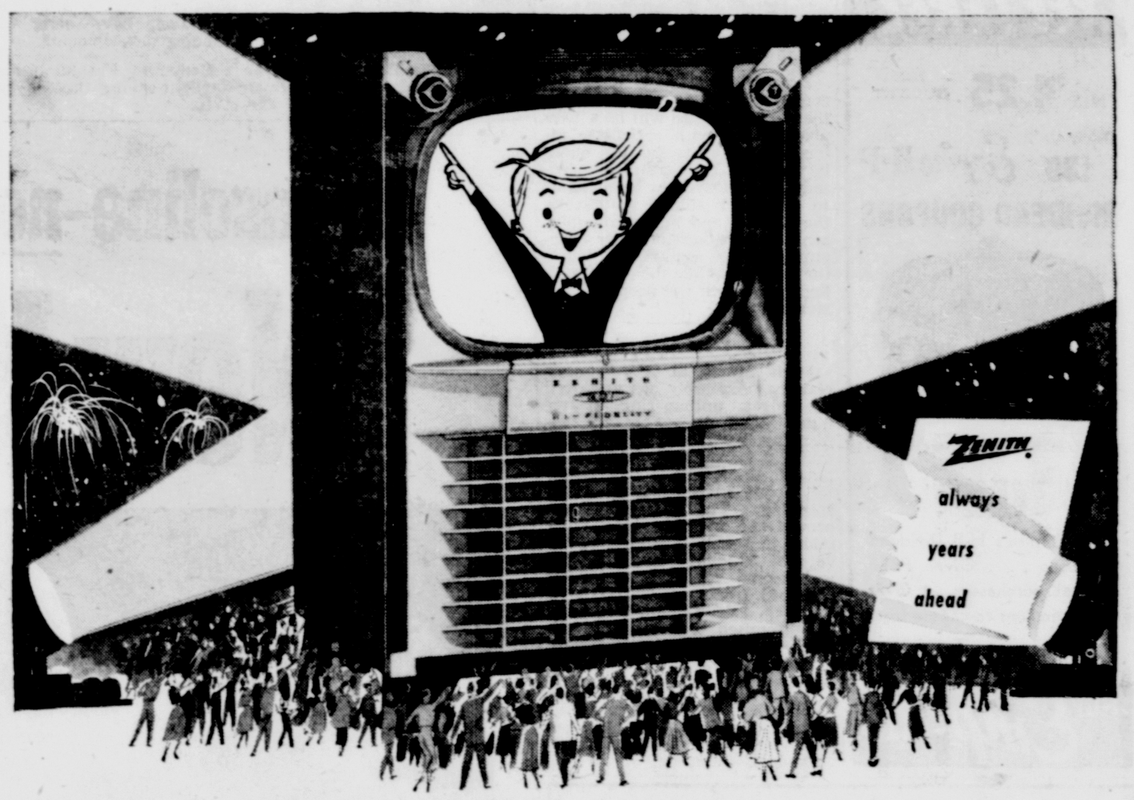

So, pal, if you're planning to lay off Salt and lose 16 pounds in four days, do it the way I did—in a hospital, under the care of a bang-up good doctor or three.

Just in case I made it look too easy for the fat boys—and girls.

Walden Man Held For Grand Jury

Raymond Kooze, 20, of Walden, who was arrested in the town of Shawangunk on Friday morning and accused of stealing an automobile, was ordered held for grand jury action on a second degree grand larceny charge after he waived examination during arraignment before Justice of the Peace Seth Lippencott.

State police of the Ellenville station charged Kooze with the theft early Friday morning of the automobile of Louis Kramer of Walden. The car was recovered, troopers said.

TAKING PROFITS

With stock prices at an all-time high, a recurring question persists: "Should some profits be taken and, if so, what should be done with the money?" This inquiry is one of the commonest in my fan mail. I shall classify the answers under several headings.

First, here is a young man of 32 who was lucky enough seven years ago to buy 100 shares of stock for $4,600, of which $3,000 was borrowed. He paid the loan off in four years. These shares have been split 2 for 1, and as I write this his 200 shares are worth nearly $20,000.

The need for insurance has seldom impressed him. Says he: "If I can continue to do as well in the stock markets as I have since 1948, why bother with insurance?" His point is well taken. But I can promise him he will have to enjoy a lot of luck if such stock market fortune favors him. He has no insurance. What should he do?

Well, here is one sound thing he can do: Seli $10,000 (half) of his excellent shares and with the capital buy $10,000 United States Government non-callable 40 year 3 per cent bonds. Then with his $300 annual interest from these obligations purchase a $15,000 life insurance policy.

THOUSANDS of stockholders should now take profits and with them, broaden and deepen their financial security base. Any young person with profits in common stocks and an inadequate insurance program should immediately improve his economic position by taking some of the stock profits.

Second, there are tens of thousands of American stockholders with substantial equity profits who have debts or future dollar obligations that should be provided for.

An advertising executive in New York, for instance, has a suburban home mortgaged for $10,000. The interest rate is 4½ per cent, and amortization costs are low. He was fortunate a few years ago to buy (also partially with borrowed money) 400 shares of a popular stock at $14 a share. Today it is $45 a share, and if he were to sell half of it and take $1,000 from his checking account, he could pay off the mortgage.

But he just won't do it. His stubborness takes its rise from two things: (1) the shares are headed higher and (2) he will not sell and pay a capital gains tax.

It should be obvious to many people (but it isn't) that the time to pay debts is when profits can be taken. The debacle of 1929 was crushing partly becouse speculators didn't pay their debts when they could and should have.

Third, during bull markets many investors get selfish. They think prices are going to continue to advance. All common stocks carry risk. Many 'blue chips' today are high in price.

AND WITH many investors whose entire wealth in common stocks runs to $10,000-$25,000, it is dangerous in 1955 not to take some profits and build up cash reserves. Or, as I have earlier suggested, invest some attractive equity profits in the government 40-year non-callable 3 per cent bonds.

Every investor or speculator is a law unto himself. And the profit-taking suggestions offered must be tempered with the economic needs of each individual. But when stock prices are on the roof, consideration of taking gains should be entertained.

A doctor in Berkeley, Calif., is making a name for himself by his success in reducing overweight women. Asked his secret, he replied, "I get a head start on a case, that's all. On the patient's first call I spend only a few minutes with her, just long enough to weigh her and instruct her to keep a complete written record of every bite she eats during the two weeks until her second appointment. And," he smiled, "by the end of those two weeks most patients have already lost about ten pounds!"—Contributed by John C. Sergeant.

An addition to the Smith family was imminent. It seemed like the sensible thing to do to send ten-year-old Margaret to her grandmother's, but twelve-year-old Tommy was kept at home. Then one morning Papa Smith came downstairs and told Tommy that the angels had brought him a dear little baby brother.

Papa Smith—Here is a dollar. You'd better send a telegram to your sister and tell her the good news.

So Tommy, very much excited, rushed to the telegraph office and sent off the following wire: "You win; it's a boy."

than harm. Many 15-year-old children could not write words of more than three letters and he concluded that the system itself was sick.

Now to roll back the learned doctor's theme upon himself, observe that the most eminent intellect present at Brameld's exhibition in New York was Eleanor Roosevelt, who herself never spent an hour in any public school and never got so much as a degree in flower arrangement. Her husband, brother, uncles and her own five children, altogether, never spent five minutes in any public school.

For two generations at least, the public school has been more and more shunned especially in the east and more especially in the up-Hudson baronial country for a variety of sound reasons, including snobbishness, which is by no means contemptible, though it is so regarded by the ill-informed.

I could call a long roll of pretentious bleeding hearts who were much too good to have traffic with the lower orders who now exude contempt from every pore for persons who only essay to as well for their own. I chance upon Barry Bingham, a paltry pundit of the Roosevelt-Truman cult and a censor of the news and opinions which a large portion of the American public is allowed to read in his monopoly area in and near Louisville. This dear boy went to Middlesex School in Concord, Mass., and then to Harvard. The Reids, Ogden and Whitelaw, of The Herald Tribune, which lives on a tax-exempt foundation, went to Deerfield and St. Paul's, respectively, and then to Yale—rah! Incidentally, our late leader made quite a do about his Fauntleroy phase at Groton, and built a grand myth about the old headmaster, a living, breathing Mr. Chips. Stewart Alsop, of the precious team of Stewart and Joe, cousins of La Boca Grande, went to Groton in conformance with family and social tradition, but the other guy's data isn't stated.

This is only a once-over lightly but it will do, I think, to make a point to skewer La Boca's friend from New York U.

Democrats Try To Get Votes on 'Welfare' Angle

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Democrats appear to be aiming their 1956 campaign strategy at efforts to convince the average voter that the Eisenhower Administration isn't particularly interested in his welfare.

A Democratic strategist who asked not to be quoted by name said today there is in prospect a stepped up political attack on cabinet members and others surrounding Eisenhower.

The effort will be made, this Democrat said, to convince voters that the Administration's policies are aimed at helping business at the expense of the little fellow.

AS THE SITUATION now stands, most Democrats conceded privately they have little hope of defeating Eisenhower if he runs again. Many of them share national chairman Paul M. Butler's publicly expresed view that he won't.

If the President does run, some Congressional Democrats say they believe they still can retain control of the Legislative branch, even if Eisenhower is re-elected.

Butler told the California Democratic Council in Fresno over the weekend that the GOP expects to win next time on the strength of Eisenhower's personality. He said Republicans who were shouting "I like Ike" in 1952 now are crying "we need Ike."

Butler said Eisenhower couldn't be excused "for the fumbling and bumbling of his own appointees."

Opportunity Open For Petty Officers

"Seventy U. S. Navy petty officers not now on active duty can be placed on active duty immediately, in connection with training and administration aspects of the Naval Reserve program in the Third Naval District," Rear Admiral Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, USN, Commandant, Third Naval District, announced recently in New York.

Third Naval District personnel office estimates that this number of additional rated personnel will be needed to fill Naval Reserve training and administrative vacancies existing in Reserve training centers, training ships and at District Headquarters.

Enlisted rated personnel with over 22 months active duty who volunteer to fill these vacancies will be assigned active duty in the Naval Reserve TAR (Training and Administration of Reserves) program and will be stationed within the Third Naval District, which comprises New York, Connecticut, and northern New Jersey. As far as possible, duty assignments will be within the vicinity of the servicemen's home.

HEADING the critically-needed list, with a total of 37 vacancies in all petty officer pay grades except chief petty officer, is the yeoman rate. Personnel holding rates of electronics technician, telemen, and storekeeper are also on the "wanted" list. Vacancies also exist in deck and ordnance ratings.

To be accepted into the TAR program, petty officers must volunteer for 24 months active duty.

Additional information as to eligibility requirements, additional servicemen's benefits, and the location of existing vacancies may be obtained from the Commanding Officer of the nearest Naval Reserve training center or by addressing an inquiry to the office of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel, Third Naval District, New York city. For information contact local Navy recruiter, Post Office Building, Kingston, or telephone 1345.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Good Defense Isn't Always Possible

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South shouldn't make the contract in today's hand against perfect defense. However, there's no reason for a bridge player to assume that the opponents are going to defend perfectly. When the hand was played, South gave the enemy a chance to go wrong, and they obliged him.

West opened the four of hearts and declarer won the first trick with dummy's queen in order to lead a spade towards his hand. When South played the king of spades, West won with the ace and led another heart.

Declarer won this in dummy also. Barring miraculous luck with the clubs, he needed a diamond trick or two to make the contract. Furthermore, in establishing the diamonds he wanted to knock out West's diamond honor first (assuming that the ace and king were split). Hence declarer immediately led a low diamond from the dummy.

A really expert East would hop up with the king of diamonds. If the king holds, East wants to lead his last heart. If the king doesn't hold, it doesn't much matter whether East has played high or low.

	NORTH 21 ♠ 6 3 ♥ A Q 10 ♦ J 9 7 3 ♣ K J 9 4
WEST ♠ A 8 4 ♥ 9 7 6 4 3 ♦ A 8 4 ♣ 6 3		EAST ♠ 10 9 7 2 ♥ 8 5 2 ♦ K 6 ♣ Q 10 8 7
	SOUTH (D) ♠ K Q J 5 ♥ K J ♦ Q 10 5 2 ♣ A 5 2

Opening lead—♥ 4

The actual East player wasn't alert enough to put up the king of diamonds. He played low, South played the queen, and West won with the ace. This play knocked out West's last entry to the long hearts. He could lead another heart, if he chose, and thus establish his suit, but he would never regain the lead to cash his established cards.

West actually shifted to a club on the theory that the hearts were now hopeless. This gave South all the comfort and time that he needed. He could win with the ace of clubs and knock out the king of diamonds. Nothing could now prevent him from making his contract. As a matter of fact, South actually made an overtrick, since East got caught in a squeeze.

East would have defeated the contract if he had stepped up with the king of diamonds on the first round of that suit. His heart return would have established the suit while West still had the ace of diamonds. The defenders would get a spade, two diamonds, and two hearts.

There is a difference: tinting calls for water as hot as possible from tap or teakettle. In dyeing the water must be held at a simmering temperature. Tinted garments are not absolutely colorfast.

ADA Pledges Self To Fight Reds

Washington, March 21 (AP) — Continued opposition to Communism and renewed emphasis on protecting civil rights have been pledged by Americans for Democratic Action.

Resolutions on those and other policies were adopted by the ADA during a weekend national convention marked by hot floor battles among the 600 delegates. Another proposal urging admission of Red China to the United Nations was rejected yesterday after an hour's debate.

THE CONVENTION named Joseph L. Rauh Jr., Washington attorney, as national chairman and reelected Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as honorary chairman.

The ADA, formed in 1947, describes itself as an independent, anticommunist organization espousing "liberal" principles. It generally supports policies of the New Deal and the Fair Deal.

"Civil liberties shall be one of our main purposes in the coming year," Rauh told a news conference. "We intend to fight for the expression of all ideas, including Communist ideas."

His statement contradicted an earlier convention stand. The delegates had decided, by a vote announced as 90-60, to delete a phrase "including Communist ideas" from a pending proposal which would have supported the right to advocate "unpopular political proposals, including Communist ideas."

Hearings Are Scheduled

New York, March 21 (AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D.-N. Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has announced that hearings on wiretapping will open Wednesday in Washington. Wiretapping "has reached the scandalous state' and should be outlawed, Celler says. Interviewed yesterday on the WCBS radio program "Let's Find Out," Celler said some of the principals in the current New York city wiretap controversy are scheduled to testify. Celler said he would call for points of view on proposed legislation from city Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and William J. Keating, counsel of the New York City Anticrime Committee, a private group.

Seek Support of Bill

A program of action on the part of its Orthodox Synagogues throughout New York state in support of the Gordon-Peterson bill now pending in Albany has been initiated by the Rabbinical Alliance of America, it was announced today by Rabbi Chaim U. Lipschitz, its executive director. The bill, which would establish a state commission to study the laws relating to the family, marriage and divorce, has already been reported out by the Assembly ways and means committee. In a letter sent to each rabbi connected with the Alliance in this state Rabbi Lipschitz urged a four-point program. Under the plan each rabbi is requested to deliver a sermon about the social purposes behind the bill; to ask members of his congregation to write to their legislators about the bill; to personally discuss the bill with his own senator and assemblyman, and to invite legislators to appear at meetings of synagogue groups.

Democrats Try To Get Votes on 'Welfare' Angle

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Democrats appear to be aiming their 1956 campaign strategy at efforts to convince the average voter that the Eisenhower Administration isn't particularly interested in his welfare.

A Democratic strategist who asked not to be quoted by name said today there is in prospect a stepped up political attack on cabinet members and others surrounding Eisenhower.

The effort will be made, this Democrat said, to convince voters that the Administration's policies are aimed at helping business at the expense of the little fellow.

AS THE SITUATION now stands, most Democrats conceded privately they have little hope of defeating Eisenhower if he runs again. Many of them share national chairman Paul M. Butler's publicly expresed view that he won't.

If the President does run, some Congressional Democrats say they believe they still can retain control of the Legislative branch, even if Eisenhower is re-elected.

Butler told the California Democratic Council in Fresno over the weekend that the GOP expects to win next time on the strength of Eisenhower's personality. He said Republicans who were shouting "I like Ike" in 1952 now are crying "we need Ike."

Butler said Eisenhower couldn't be excused "for the fumbling and bumbling of his own appointees."

Opportunity Open For Petty Officers

"Seventy U. S. Navy petty officers not now on active duty can be placed on active duty immediately, in connection with training and administration aspects of the Naval Reserve program in the Third Naval District," Rear Admiral Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, USN, Commandant, Third Naval District, announced recently in New York.

Third Naval District personnel office estimates that this number of additional rated personnel will be needed to fill Naval Reserve training and administrative vacancies existing in Reserve training centers, training ships and at District Headquarters.

Enlisted rated personnel with over 22 months active duty who volunteer to fill these vacancies will be assigned active duty in the Naval Reserve TAR (Training and Administration of Reserves) program and will be stationed within the Third Naval District, which comprises New York, Connecticut, and northern New Jersey. As far as possible, duty assignments will be within the vicinity of the servicemen's home.

HEADING the critically-needed list, with a total of 37 vacancies in all petty officer pay grades except chief petty officer, is the yeoman rate. Personnel holding rates of electronics technician, telemen, and storekeeper are also on the "wanted" list. Vacancies also exist in deck and ordnance ratings.

To be accepted into the TAR program, petty officers must volunteer for 24 months active duty.

Additional information as to eligibility requirements, additional servicemen's benefits, and the location of existing vacancies may be obtained from the Commanding Officer of the nearest Naval Reserve training center or by addressing an inquiry to the office of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel, Third Naval District, New York city. For information contact local Navy recruiter, Post Office Building, Kingston, or telephone 1345.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Good Defense Isn't Always Possible

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South shouldn't make the contract in today's hand against perfect defense. However, there's no reason for a bridge player to assume that the opponents are going to defend perfectly. When the hand was played, South gave the enemy a chance to go wrong, and they obliged him.

West opened the four of hearts and declarer won the first trick with dummy's queen in order to lead a spade towards his hand. When South played the king of spades, West won with the ace and led another heart.

Declarer won this in dummy also. Barring miraculous luck with the clubs, he needed a diamond trick or two to make the contract. Furthermore, in establishing the diamonds he wanted to—knock out West's diamond honor first (assuming that the ace and king were split). Hence declarer immediately led a low diamond from the dummy.

A really expert East would hop up with the king of diamonds. If the king holds, East wants to lead his last heart. If the king doesn't hold, it doesn't much matter whether East has played high or low.

The actual East player wasn't alert enough to put up the king of diamonds. He played low, South played the queen, and West won with the ace. This play knocked out West's last entry to the long hearts. He could lead another heart, if he chose, and thus establish his suit, but he would never regain the lead to cash his established cards.

West actually shifted to a club on the theory that the hearts were now hopeless. This gave South all the comfort and time that he needed. He could win with the ace of clubs and knock out the king of diamonds. Nothing could now prevent him from making his contract. As a matter of fact, South actually made an overtrick, since East got caught in a squeeze.

East would have defeated the contract if he had stepped up with the king of diamonds on the first round of that suit. His heart return would have established the suit while West still had the ace of diamonds. The defenders would get a spade, two diamonds, and two hearts.

There is a difference: tinting calls for water as hot as possible from tap or teakettle. In dyeing the water must be held at a simmering temperature. Tinted garments are not absolutely colorfast.

ADA Pledges Self To Fight Reds

Washington, March 21 (AP) — Continued opposition to Communism and renewed emphasis on protecting civil rights have been pledged by Americans for Democratic Action.

Resolutions on those and other policies were adopted by the ADA during a weekend national convention marked by hot floor battles among the 600 delegates. Another proposal urging admission of Red China to the United Nations was rejected yesterday after an hour's debate.

THE CONVENTION named Joseph L. Rauh Jr., Washington attorney, as national chairman and reelected Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as honorary chairman.

The ADA, formed in 1947, describes itself as an independent, anticommunist organization espousing "liberal" principles. It generally supports policies of the New Deal and the Fair Deal.

"Civil liberties shall be one of our main purposes in the coming year," Rauh told a news conference. "We intend to fight for the expression of all ideas, including Communist ideas."

His statement contradicted an earlier convention stand. The delegates had decided, by a vote announced as 90-60, to delete a phrase "including Communist ideas" from a pending proposal which would have supported the right to advocate "unpopular political proposals, including Communist ideas."

Hearings Are Scheduled

New York, March 21 (AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D.-N. Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has announced that hearings on wiretapping will open Wednesday in Washington. Wiretapping "has reached the scandalous state' and should be outlawed, Celler says. Interviewed yesterday on the WCBS radio program "Let's Find Out," Celler said some of the principals in the current New York city wiretap controversy are scheduled to testify. Celler said he would call for points of view on proposed legislation from city Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and William J. Keating, counsel of the New York City Anticrime Committee, a private group.

Seek Support of Bill

A program of action on the part of its Orthodox Synagogues throughout New York state in support of the Gordon-Peterson bill now pending in Albany has been initiated by the Rabbinical Alliance of America, it was announced today by Rabbi Chaim U. Lipschitz, its executive director. The bill, which would establish a state commission to study the laws relating to the family, marriage and divorce, has already been reported out by the Assembly ways and means committee. In a letter sent to each rabbi connected with the Alliance in this state Rabbi Lipschitz urged a four-point program. Under the plan each rabbi is requested to deliver a sermon about the social purposes behind the bill; to ask members of his congregation to write to their legislators about the bill; to personally discuss the bill with his own senator and assemblyman, and to invite legislators to appear at meetings of synagogue groups.

Telephoning Acquaintances

A reader asks: "What is considered proper in the following situation? My husband and I travel a good deal and it often happens that we are held over in a city for a several hour wait to make train connections. In many of these towns live people we have met in our travels, or know slightly through friends at home. Rather than wait around the railroad station, would it be proper to call these acquaintances and ask if we may come to see them?"

If you know that these acquaintances are unlikely to be busy and believe them to be friendly, it will be quite all right for you to telephone and explain that you are in town for an hour or so between trains and would like to come to see them if they will be at home.

Dinner Service With No Maid

Dear Mrs. Post: I am confronted with the problem of how to serve dinner correctly when we have guests at table. I have no maid to help me. Each place at table is set with a dinner plate and I would like to know now the meat, which my husband carves at table, is put on these plates? Does each guest pass his, or her, plate to him so that he may put the meat on it. This seems rather awkward to me.

Answer: Instead of setting your table with a dinner plate at each place, put them in a pile on the table to the left of your husband who puts a slice of meat on each plate and then passes it to the person for whom it is intended—starting with the lady on his right.

A Note to the Teacher

Dear Mrs. Post: Every now and then I have to write a note to my son's teacher and am always confused as to how to sign my name. Is it Mrs. R. J. Smith, Mrs. Smith or Mary Smith? Also, do I close the note with Sincerely, or Gratefully?

Answer: You sign your name Mary Smith, and if necessary you put Mrs. R. J. Smith in parenthesis underneath your signature. If you have a special reason to be grateful for something that she has done for you, then you might close with Gratefully; otherwise Sincerely.

Telephoning Acquaintances

A reader asks: "What is considered proper in the following situation? My husband and I travel a good deal and it often happens that we are held over in a city for a several hour wait to make train connections. In many of these towns live people we have met in our travels, or know slightly through friends at home. Rather than wait around the railroad station, would it be proper to call these acquaintances and ask if we may come to see them?"

If you know that these acquaintances are unlikely to be busy and believe them to be friendly, it will be quite all right for you to telephone and explain that you are in town for an hour or so between trains and would like to come to see them if they will be at home.

Dinner Service With No Maid

Dear Mrs. Post: I am confronted with the problem of how to serve dinner correctly when we have guests at table. I have no maid to help me. Each place at table is set with a dinner plate and I would like to know how the meat, which my husband carves at table, is put on these plates? Does each guest pass his, or her, plate to him so that he may put the meat on it. This seems rather awkward to me.

Answer: Instead of setting your table with a dinner plate at each place, put them in a pile on the table to the left of your husband who puts a slice of meat on each plate and then passes it to the person for whom it is intended—starting with the lady on his right.

A Note to the Teacher

Dear Mrs. Post: Every now and then I have to write a note to my son's teacher and am always confused as to how to sign my name. Is it Mrs. R. J. Smith, Mrs. Smith or Mary Smith? Also, do I close the note with Sincerely, or Gratefully?

Answer: You sign your name Mary Smith, and if necessary you put Mrs. R. J. Smith in parenthesis underneath your signature. If you have a special reason to be grateful for something that she has done for you, then you might close with Gratefully; otherwise Sincerely.

MUSIC NOTES—Looking over the final program of the Band and Orchestra Concert of Kingston High School Saturday evening were Marlin E. Morrette, band director, and Harold B. Weaver, orchestra director. The two music groups of the high school presented concerts Friday and Saturday evenings. (Freeman photo)

High School Concert Is Well Received By Audience Saturday

The final concert in the two-night series presented by the Kingston High School Band and Orchestra was well received Saturday evening at the school auditorium.

THE PROGRAM given by the orchestra under the direction of Harold B. Weaver was a repeat performance of the previous evening's selections. Miss Jane Gunter, concert mistress, presented a violin solo, Czardas by Monti, which was acclaimed by the audience. The Frankie and Johnnie Overture by Whitney, an enjoyable and clever arrangement of this old American folk ballad, concluded the orchestras part of the concert.

THE BAND program, under the direction of Marlin E. Morrette, contained some different selections from those presented in Fridays concert.

Trumpet soloist Ronald Quarantino pleased the audience with Soliloquy for Trumpet by Morrissey, and the Concerto for the Timpani by Weinberger, featuring Peter Cain as soloist, was a diversion that established the soloist as being well acquainted with his instrument.

Miss Marcy Levine, with percussion accompaniment, presented a vibra harp solo, Fiddle Faddle, by Anderson, another highlight of the Saturday program.

..IN RESPONSE to continued applause from the audience, the band repeated the Friday performance of the Three Blind Mice, a fantasy that leads the imagination through the antics of the famous nursery rhyme characters.

Henry Fillmore's Americans We March selection closed the sixth annual concert.

Corsages were presented to those honored.

The speaker was City Historian Joseph F. Sullivan. He gave a talk on the contributions made by those of Irish birth and ancestry to the nation, state and city. He also congratulated the women on the work they had accomplished in their more than 50 years of activity.

The committee in charge was headed by Mrs. Frank Hopper.

Burglaries, Auto Theft Reported To Local Police

Two burglaries, a car theft and a petty theft were reported to the police over the weekend.

The person, or persons who entered Phillips Sportwear, Inc., 76 Prince street, through a skylight were nearly trapped as a telephone was knocked off a desk and by the fact that it was necessary to break open a door to get from the building.

Entered for at least the third time within a year was the S & C Lunch, 44 East Strand. Nothing was reported taken from there this time, but an unknown amount of petty cash was reported taken from Phillips Sportwear.

James Pillsworth, of 157 East Chester street, reported at 4:45 a. m., today that his car was stolen from Hasbrouck avenue near McDermott's tavern. The key had been left in the car as it was parked near the tavern, the report said.

John Klarick, of 54 West Chester street, reported Saturday that two fog lights had been removed from his truck which had been parked during the night near 29 Greenkill avenue.

Wurtsboro Bank Gunmen Arrested

Two gunmen who staged the St. Patrick's Day holdup of the Wurtsboro branch of the Sullivan Trust Co., were arrested late Friday evening in Woodridge, about 12 miles away, by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, members of the Sullivan county sheriff's office and the Fallsburgh Town Police.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the New York city office of the FBI, said the men had been identified as Murray Cohen, 29, and his cousin, Daniel Cohen, 24, both of Woodridge.

After taking $1,689 from the bank they made their getaway in a car which had been parked in front of the bank with the keys left in the ignition, it was reported. FBI authorities said the car, owned by DuBois Collins, had been left in front of the bank by his son, Leonard Collins, who had come to the bank to pick up his wife, a bank employe.

THE GUNMEN were charged with violation of Federal Bank Robbery Statute, Title 19, Section 2113, of the U. S. Code, and taken before U. S. Commissioner Frank Abbott of Warwick who set bail at $20,000 for Murray and $10,000 for Daniel.

Both have been kept in the Orange county jail, Goshen, and face trial in the Southern District of New York.

It was reported that Murray was in the pinball machine business and Daniel worked in his father's luncheonette in Woodridge. The FBI participated in the investigation because bank robbery is a federal offense.

MUSIC NOTES—Looking over the final program of the Band and Orchestra Concert of Kingston High School Saturday evening were Marlin E. Morrette, band director, and Harold B. Weaver, orchestra director. The two music groups of the high school presented concerts Friday and Saturday evenings. (Freeman photo)

High School Concert Is Well Received By Audience Saturday

The final concert in the two-night series presented by the Kingston High School Band and Orchestra was well received Saturday evening at the school auditorium.

THE PROGRAM given by the orchestra under the direction of Harold B. Weaver was a repeat performance of the previous evening's selections. Miss Jane Gunter, concert mistress, presented a violin solo, Czardas by Monti, which was acclaimed by the audience. The Frankie and Johnnie Overture by Whitney, an enjoyable and clever arrangement of this old American folk ballad, concluded the orchestras part of the concert.

THE BAND program, under the direction of Marlin E. Morrette, contained some different selections from those presented in Fridays concert.

Trumpet soloist Ronald Quarantino pleased the audience with Soliloquy for Trumpet by Morrissey, and the Concerto for the Timpani by Weinberger, featuring Peter Cain as soloist, was a diversion that established the soloist as being well acquainted with his instrument.

Miss Marcy Levine, with percussion accompaniment, presented a vibra harp solo, Fiddle Faddle, by Anderson, another highlight of the Saturday program.

..IN RESPONSE to continued applause from the audience, the band repeated the Friday performance of the Three Blind Mice, a fantasy that leads the imagination through the antics of the famous nursery rhyme characters.

Henry Fillmore's Americans We March selection closed the sixth annual concert.

Red Wings Notch Seventh Title; Crowd Is Orderly

Detroit, March 21 (AP)—A new "take-it-easy" policy—replacing the old rule of the "iron fist"—led to the Detroit Red Wings' seventh straight National Hockey League championship.

In a game free of any serious incidents, the Red Wings clinched the title last night by humiliating the Montreal Canadiens, 6-0, before a roaring but orderly crowd of 13,383.

With a guard of 70 policemen standing watch in Olympia Stadium, the crowd generally was well behaved. One jokester tossed a live baby octopus onto the ice, while another set off a string of firecrackers.

But that was all. Nothing resembling the ugly riot in Montreal Forum last Thursday.

Explaining the Red Wings' switch in strategy, General Manager Jack Adams said:

"We decided to go easy with the boys this season. This was Jimmy Skinner's first year as coach and we didn't want him and the boys to get off on the wrong foot by working too hard.

"Practice sessions were easier and shorter and the players were able to spend more time at home than ever before. So in the final few weeks they were fresh."

The Red Wings won their last nine games in a row for one of the greatest rallies in hockey history.

THE COMEBACK reached its climax in the second period of last night's game when the Wings poured in five goals—four of them in a wild five-minute, 20-second spree.

Capt. Ted Lindsay, playing with a leather and metal brace to protect his bruised shoulder, scored three goals. The injury had kept him sidelined for the previous three games.

Dutch Reidel, Tony Leswick and Alex Delvecchio contributed the otherd goals as Detroit handed Montreal its worst defeat of the season.

The Canadiens, minus their suspended star, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, offered little in the way of an organized attack.

GOALIE TERRY SAWCHUCK hung up his 13th shutout of the season and, in so doing, won the Vezina trophy from Toronto's Harry Lumley by a single goal, 135 to 134.

By finishing first, the Red Wings earned an additional $500 per player. They also gained a slight edge for the Stanley cup playoffs which get underway Tuesday. If they reach the final round, four of the games, if necessary, will be played on Detroit ice.

In the first round of the playoffs, Detroit will meet the Toronto Maple Leafs, while Montreal squares off against Boston. Opening games Tuesday are at Detroit and Montreal.

The New York Rangers last night knocked Lumley out of the Vezina trophy race by defeating Toronto, 3-2, on second-period goals by Andy Bathgate and Harry Howell. Chicago, meanwhile, turned back Boston, 4-3.

Furgol Offers Tips on Golf

HE'S TOPS—But Open Champ Ed Furgol watches for topped shots when playing downhill lie.

(Fourth of Five Articles)
By ED FURGOL
(Written for NEA Service)

Unless you're careful when you have a downhill lie, the odds are that you will get a topped shot or a push to the right.

How to avoid such results:

First, use a clumb one number shorter than the distance requires. Play ball on a line off the right foot. Make stance more upright. Keep swing compact. Aim for the left because the ball should drift to the right. And stay down on the shot until well after the ball is hit.

CONCENTRATION is the most important mental key to good golf . . . for the lowest and the highest handicap players.

Develop a mental picture of the ball's flight and where you want the ball to go.

Concentrate on slow backswing, head down, hit through.

Next: Reading the green.

Kithcart Boxes In Albany Ring; Here on April 14

According to an announcement from the Glasco Athletic Club, one of its lightweights is scheduled for action in Albany tonight, and will be seen on a card listed for the Municipal Auditorium here on April 14, when Fred Davi, president of the club, stages his Carnival of Champions.

Davi said Eddie Kithcart, featherweight champion in the open class of the Adirondack District, AAU, will box at Odd Fellows Hall on Beaver street, in the capital city, when eliminations and quarter finals of the AAU tournament will furnish 20 bouts to the patrons of the Simon Pure sport.

THERE ARE 100 boxers listed for competition in the novice and open classes at Albany, and the tournament is scheduled to run over to Tuesday night. Starting time is 8:30 p. m., a press announcement said.

Davi said several other contestants will be wearing the Glasco colors tonight, including Ken Barr, Rosendale lightweight.

"We intend to stage our annual card of bouts in Kingston April 14," Davi told The Freeman. "It will be in the form of a Carnival of Champions, with Adirondack District title holders meeting Golden Glovers from the New York city area."

DAVI SAID that money raised on the bouts in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium is to be used for promoting baseball in the Glasco sector. "We are of the opinion that the club can raise a sizeable amount for our Little League and for sponsoring a Babe Ruth team in Saugerties," he declared.

Serving with Davi as officers of the Glasco A. C. are Ben Rinaldi, vice president; James Naccarato, secretary; John Spada, treasurer and John Carpino, recording secretary.

DonsDump Explorers

Kansas City, March 21 (AP)—The "dip" shot executed by Bill Russell displaced the old fashioned "tip" and last-minute strategy succeeded as the University of San Francisco Dons took away the national collegiate basketball crown from LaSalle's Explorers.

San Francisco, rated No. 1 nationally in the Associated Press poll of writers and sportscasters, won the 17th NCAA-sponsored cage tournament, 77-63, over 1954 champion LaSalle before a packed house of 10,500 in Municipal Auditorium Saturday night.

IN THE PRELIMINARY game for third place the Big Seven Conference champion Colorado Buffaloes knocked off Iowa's Hawkeyes of the Big Ten, 75-54.

While the 6-foot 10-inch Russell was busy helping the ball downward and into the basket off his teammates long shots, it was left for the Dons' K. C. Jones to come through with the job that really foiled the Explorers.

Jones, a senior who packs 202 pounds in a 6-foot 1-inch frame, was given the task by Coach Phil Woolpert of stopping three-time All-America Tom Gola of LaSalle. Jones not only limited Gola to 6 field goals, but wound up with 10 field goals and 4 free throws for 24 San Francisco points.

Woolpert assigned Jones to Gola shortly before game time when it was apparent Jerry Mullen, ace defender of the Dons, wouldn't be able to go full steam because of an ailing ankle.

GOLA'S GAME total of 16 points, 4 of them on free throws, represented the best individual effort for Coach Ken Loffler's LaSalle club.

The box score showed Russell with 23 points, next best to Jones, but the Dons' gangling All-America at times had even the official scorers confused over who should be given credit for the bucket. The first three baskets chalked up for Russell came on guiders as the lean Negro star pushed the ball into the goal.

Russell, who has another year of college eligibility remaining, was voted the outstanding player of the tournament.

Meet for N-S Title

Pinehurst, N. C., March 21 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Wiffi Smith and Pat Lesser, a 'veteran" at 21, met today for the North and South amateur title in the All-Pacific Coast final. Today's match found Pat, whose home is in Seattle, still seeking her first victory in three starts against Wiffi, who lives in La Canada, Calif. Smooth-swinging Wiffi, whose given name is margaret, was sensational in yesterday's semifinals that saw her smother national champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., 6 and 5, while Pat disposed of Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2 and 1.

Trabert Wins Title

Palm Beach, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati defeated his Davis Cup mate, Vic Seixas, in four sets to win the Everglades Club tennis championship yesterday. Set scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Pistons Trip Tired Lakers

(By The Associated Press)

Fort Wayne's Pistons held a one-game advantage over the defending champion Minneapolis Lakers today in the western division playoffs of the National Basketball Association — illustrating a definite advantage in winning the division crown for the regular season.

Minneapolis finished a best-of-three series with Rochester only Saturday night, winning 119-110, while Fort Wayne loafed all week except for an exhibition game.

The fresh Pistons licked the weary Lakers Sunday on the neutral Elkhart, Ind., Coliseum Court, 96-79. Another difference was that Minneapolis had George Mikan last year and Fort Wayne added Notre Dame star Dick Rosenthal to its lineup this season.

ROSENTHAL SCORED nine points in a second-quarter drive in which Fort Wayne outfired the Lakers 30-18.

Boston's Celtics and Syracuse's regular season champions will open the eastern division best-of-five series tomorrow night at Syracuse. The Celtics qualified for the division's final round Saturday by defeating the New York Knickerbockers, 116-109.

Survivors of the division eliminations will meet in a best-of-seven series for the NBA championship.

U.S. Adds New Laurels As P-A Games Near End

Mexico City, March 21 (AP)—The Pan-American games swung into the home-stretch today with the United States in front in the swimming and diving program and the winner in tennis of one of its sweeter victories in these pre-Olympic year engagements.

On the swimming scene, slender Jimmy McLane of the U. S. handed Oscar Kramer of Argentina, the favorite, a decisive whipping in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

The time was a creditable 20:04 for this high altitude, and the outcome was mostly a matter of 25-year-old Jimmy, of two-time Olympic fame, outsmarting the Argentine and coming through with a winning kick in the final 100 meters.

IN TENNIS, Art Larsen of the U. S. scored his first major victory in nine years of play in Mexico when he outmaneuvered 6-foot-4 Enrique Morea of the Argentine for the Pam-Am singles championship, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Morea boasts a big game but he was a frustrated young man against the nimble North American.

On the basis of unofficial returns yesterday, the U. S. increased its overall games total to 762½ points. Argentina, with its 317, and Mexico, 221½, were the next in line. The U. S. scored 201½ points yesterday, largest single day total of the games.

In swimming and diving, Uncle Sam added two more gold medals to his collection—one to ex-Yale star McLane, the other to a water sprite of 14, Wanda Lee Werner of Bethesda, Md.

LITTLE MISS WANDA dusted off the opposition in the 200-meter freestyle in 2:32.5.

Joaquin Capilla of Mexico won the 3-meter diving championship. Capilla, the big favorite of the tremendous crowd that must have numbered 12,000 or more, and also good enough to capture the AAU springboard and platform crown in the United States last year, scored 175.76 points to retain his Pan-Am title.

Capilla's unofficial winning 10 points were outscored by the Yankee threesome of Arthur Coffee of Miami, Fla., Bob Clotworthy, formerly of Ohio State, and young Gary Tobian of Los Angeles, who finished two-three-four for 12 points.

In an all-Mexico finish in women's tennis singles, Rosa Maria Reyes defeated Yolanda Ramirez, 8-6, 2-6, 6-3.

Brazil upset Argentina 61-57 in men's basketball to throw the tournament into an unexpected virtual three-way tie between Brazil, Argentina and the United States. Argentina earlier defeated the United States.

THE U. S. WOMEN'S basketball team defeated Mexico, 63-35, insuring no less than a tie for the U. S. in the title race.

Argentina won four titles to three for the U. S. in rowing, with the U. S. taking the two glamor events, the 8-oared race and the single sculls. Jack D. Kelly of Philadelphia beat Uruguay's Juan Rodriguez in the sculls, and the Vespers Eight of Philadelphia defeated Argentina in the 8-oar race.

The U. S. baseball team lost to the Dominican republic, 10-7. The Dominican republic has only to win its last game tomowrow to cinch the title.

Red Wings Notch Seventh Title; Crowd Is Orderly

Detroit, March 21 (AP)—A new "take-it-easy" policy—replacing the old rule of the "iron fist"—led to the Detroit Red Wings' seventh straight National Hockey League championship.

In a game free of any serious incidents, the Red Wings clinched the title last night by humiliating the Montreal Canadiens, 6-0, before a roaring but orderly crowd of 13,383.

With a guard of 70 policemen standing watch in Olympia Stadium, the crowd generally was well behaved. One jokester tossed a live baby octopus onto the ice, while another set off a string of firecrackers.

But that was all. Nothing resembling the ugly riot in Montreal Forum last Thursday.

Explaining the Red Wings' switch in strategy, General Manager Jack Adams said:

"We decided to go easy with the boys this season. This was Jimmy Skinner's first year as coach and we didn't want him and the boys to get off on the wrong foot by working too hard.

"Practice sessions were easier and shorter and the players were able to spend more time at home than ever before. So in the final few weeks they were fresh."

The Red Wings won their last nine games in a row for one of the greatest rallies in hockey history.

THE COMEBACK reached its climax in the second period of last night's game when the Wings poured in five goals—four of them in a wild five-minute, 20-second spree.

Capt. Ted Lindsay, playing with a leather and metal brace to protect his bruised shoulder, scored three goals. The injury had kept him sidelined for the previous three games.

Dutch Reidel, Tony Leswick and Alex Delvecchio contributed the otherd goals as Detroit handed Montreal its worst defeat of the season.

The Canadiens, minus their suspended star, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, offered little in the way of an organized attack.

GOALIE TERRY SAWCHUCK hung up his 13th shutout of the season and, in so doing, won the Vezina trophy from Toronto's Harry Lumley by a single goal, 135 to 134.

By finishing first, the Red Wings earned an additional $500 per player. They also gained a slight edge for the Stanley cup playoffs which get underway Tuesday. If they reach the final round, four of the games, if necessary, will be played on Detroit ice.

In the first round of the playoffs, Detroit will meet the Toronto Maple Leafs, while Montreal squares off against Boston. Opening games Tuesday are at Detroit and Montreal.

The New York Rangers last night knocked Lumley out of the Vezina trophy race by defeating Toronto, 3-2, on second-period goals by Andy Bathgate and Harry Howell. Chicago, meanwhile, turned back Boston, 4-3.

Furgol Offers Tips on Golf

HE'S TOPS—But Open Champ Ed Furgol watches for topped shots when playing downhill lie.

(Fourth of Five Articles)
By ED FURGOL
(Written for NEA Service)

Unless you're careful when you have a downhill lie, the odds are that you will get a topped shot or a push to the right.

How to avoid such results:

First, use a clumb one number shorter than the distance requires. Play ball on a line off the right foot. Make stance more upright. Keep swing compact. Aim for the left because the ball should drift to the right. And stay down on the shot until well after the ball is hit.

CONCENTRATION is the most important mental key to good golf . . . for the lowest and the highest handicap players.

Develop a mental picture of the ball's flight and where you want the ball to go.

Concentrate on slow backswing, head down, hit through.

Kithcart Boxes In Albany Ring; Here on April 14

According to an announcement from the Glasco Athletic Club, one of its lightweights is scheduled for action in Albany tonight, and will be seen on a card listed for the Municipal Auditorium here on April 14, when Fred Davi, president of the club, stages his Carnival of Champions.

Davi said Eddie Kithcart, featherweight champion in the open class of the Adirondack District, AAU, will box at Odd Fellows Hall on Beaver street, in the capital city, when eliminations and quarter finals of the AAU tournament will furnish 20 bouts to the patrons of the Simon Pure sport.

THERE ARE 100 boxers listed for competition in the novice and open classes at Albany, and the tournament is scheduled to run over to Tuesday night. Starting time is 8:30 p. m., a press announcement said.

Davi said several other contestants will be wearing the Glasco colors tonight, including Ken Barr, Rosendale lightweight.

"We intend to stage our annual card of bouts in Kingston April 14," Davi told The Freeman. "It will be in the form of a Carnival of Champions, with Adirondack District title holders meeting Golden Glovers from the New York city area."

DAVI SAID that money raised on the bouts in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium is to be used for promoting baseball in the Glasco sector. "We are of the opinion that the club can raise a sizeable amount for our Little League and for sponsoring a Babe Ruth team in Saugerties," he declared.

Serving with Davi as officers of the Glasco A. C. are Ben Rinaldi, vice president; James Naccarato, secretary; John Spada, treasurer and John Carpino, recording secretary.

DonsDump Explorers

Kansas City, March 21 (AP)—The "dip" shot executed by Bill Russell displaced the old fashioned "tip" and last-minute strategy succeeded as the University of San Francisco Dons took away the national collegiate basketball crown from LaSalle's Explorers.

San Francisco, rated No. 1 nationally in the Associated Press poll of writers and sportscasters, won the 17th NCAA-sponsored cage tournament, 77-63, over 1954 champion LaSalle before a packed house of 10,500 in Municipal Auditorium Saturday night.

IN THE PRELIMINARY game for third place the Big Seven Conference champion Colorado Buffaloes knocked off Iowa's Hawkeyes of the Big Ten, 75-54.

While the 6-foot 10-inch Russell was busy helping the ball downward and into the basket off his teammates long shots, it was left for the Dons' K. C. Jones to come through with the job that really foiled the Explorers.

Jones, a senior who packs 202 pounds in a 6-foot 1-inch frame, was given the task by Coach Phil Woolpert of stopping three-time All-America Tom Gola of La Salle. Jones not only limited Gola to 6 field goals, but wound up with 10 field goals and 4 free throws for 24 San Francisco points.

Woolpert assigned Jones to Gola shortly before game time when it was apparent Jerry Mullen, ace defender of the Dons, wouldn't be able to go full steam because of an ailing ankle.

GOLA'S GAME total of 16 points, 4 of them on free throws, represented the best individual effort for Coach Ken Loffler's La Salle club.

The box score showed Russell with 23 points, next best to Jones, but the Dons' gangling All-America at times had even the official scorers confused over who should be given credit for the bucket. The first three baskets chalked up for Russell came on guiders as the lean Negro star pushed the ball into the goal.

Russell, who has another year of college eligibility remaining, was voted the outstanding player of the tournament.

Pistons Trip Tired Lakers

(By The Associated Press)

Fort Wayne's Pistons held a one-game advantage over the defending champion Minneapolis Lakers today in the western division playoffs of the National Basketball Association — illustrating a definite advantage in winning the division crown for the regular season.

Minneapolis finished a best-of-three series with Rochester only Saturday night, winning 119-110, while Fort Wayne loafed all week except for an exhibition game.

The fresh Pistons licked the weary Lakers Sunday on the neutral Elkhart, Ind., Coliseum Court, 96-79. Another difference was that Minneapolis had George Mikan last year and Fort Wayne added Notre Dame star Dick Rosenthal to its lineup this season.

ROSENTHAL SCORED nine points in a second-quarter drive in which Fort Wayne outfired the Lakers 30-18.

Boston's Celtics and Syracuse's regular season champions will open the eastern division best-of-five series tomorrow night at Syracuse. The Celtics qualified for the division's final round Saturday by defeating the New York Knickerbockers, 116-109.

Survivors of the division eliminations will meet in a best-of-seven series for the NBA championship.

Meet for N-S Title

Pinehurst, N. C., March 21 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Wiffi Smith and Pat Lesser, a 'veteran" at 21, met today for the North and South amateur title in the All-Pacific Coast final. Today's match found Pat, whose home is in Seattle, still seeking her first victory in three starts against Wiffi, who lives in La Canada, Calif. Smooth-swinging Wiffi, whose given name is margaret, was sensational in yesterday's semifinals that saw her smother national champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., 6 and 5, while Pat disposed of Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2 and 1.

U.S. Adds New Laurels As P-A Games Near End

Mexico City, March 21 (AP)—The Pan-American games swung into the home-stretch today with the United States in front in the swimming and diving program and the winner in tennis of one of its sweeter victories in these pre-Olympic year engagements.

On the swimming scene, slender Jimmy McLane of the U. S. handed Oscar Kramer of Argentina, the favorite, a decisive whipping in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

The time was a creditable 20:04 for this high altitude, and the outcome was mostly a matter of 25-year-old Jimmy, of two-time Olympic fame, outsmarting the Argentine and coming through with a winning kick in the final 100 meters.

IN TENNIS, Art Larsen of the U. S. scored his first major victory in nine years of play in Mexico when he outmaneuvered 6-foot-4 Enrique Morea of the Argentine for the Pam-Am singles championship, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Morea boasts a big game but he was a frustrated young man against the nimble North American.

On the basis of unofficial returns yesterday, the U. S. increased its overall games total to 762½ points. Argentina, with its 317, and Mexico, 221½, were the next in line. The U. S. scored 201½ points yesterday, largest single day total of the games.

In swimming and diving, Uncle Sam added two more gold medals to his collection—one to ex-Yale star McLane, the other to a water sprite of 14, Wanda Lee Werner of Bethesda, Md.

LITTLE MISS WANDA dusted off the opposition in the 200-meter freestyle in 2:32.5.

Joaquin Capilla of Mexico won the 3-meter diving championship. Capilla, the big favorite of the tremendous crowd that must have numbered 12,000 or more, and also good enough to capture the AAU springboard and platform crown in the United States last year, scored 175.76 points to retain his Pan-Am title.

Capilla's unofficial winning 10 points were outscored by the Yankee threesome of Arthur Coffee of Miami, Fla., Bob Clotworthy, formerly of Ohio State, and young Gary Tobian of Los Angeles, who finished two-three-four for 12 points.

In an all-Mexico finish in women's tennis singles, Rosa Maria Reyes defeated Yolanda Ramirez, 8-6, 2-6, 6-3.

Brazil upset Argentina 61-57 in men's basketball to throw the tournament into an unexpected virtual three-way tie between Brazil, Argentina and the United States. Argentina earlier defeated the United States.

THE U. S. WOMEN'S basketball team defeated Mexico, 63-35, insuring no less than a tie for the U. S. in the title race.

Argentina won four titles to three for the U. S. in rowing, with the U. S. taking the two glamor events, the 8-oared race and the single sculls. Jack D. Kelly of Philadelphia beat Uruguay's Juan Rodriguez in the sculls, and the Vespers Eight of Philadelphia defeated Argentina in the 8-oar race.

The U. S. baseball team lost to the Dominican republic, 10-7. The Dominican republic has only to win its last game tomowrow to cinch the title.

Milwaukee Shows Power Extending Streak to Three

(By The Associated Press)

While everyone is talking about the Cincinnati Reds' Murderers' Row, the Milwaukee Braves are quietly going about forming a real muscle machine of their own.

The likes of Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron will strike terror into many a pitcher's heart before the coming season is over. In fact, clubs that must meet the Redlegs and Braves in successive series will have their work cut out for them.

Both the Braves and Redlegs chalked up exhibition conquests yesterday via the sudden-death route in the fashion of the old New York Yankees.

The Braves won their third in a row by edging the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 when Adcock broke it up with a home run over the left field fence in the eighth inning. Earlier, Aaron slapped one over the same wall with a runner aboard.

THE CARDS made all their runs in the first inning when they got to Lew Burdette for four straight hits.

The Chicago White Sox got a taste of the raw power generated by the Redlegs. With the score tied in the ninth, the Redlegs came up with four runs to smash it wide open. Wally Post hit two home runs along the way for Birdie Tebbetts' club, while Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell delivered run-scoring hits in the big ninth.

The Boston Red Sox continued to get good pitching—this time from big Hank Sullivan, the bellwether of the staff last year as a sophomore. The Sox polished off the Detroit Tigers 10-3 with Sullivan hurling five innings and giving up just one hit. He has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings on the mound this spring.

It was like old times in Los Angeles where the New York Giants continued their mastery over the Cleveland Indians 7-3. Dusty Rhodes, Leo Durocher's pinch hitter extraordinary, poled a pinch-home run with one on off Mike Garcia to highlight a five-run seventh inning.

JOHNNY ANTONELLI pitched five runless innings for the Giants.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, who appear to be trying to set a record for overtime exhibitions, played their second extra-inning game in less than 24 hours. The Brooks won this one 9-8 in 10 innings. Rookie Dodger shortstop Chico Fernandez got three hits, including a double in the 10th. He then scored the winning run on a single by Sandy Amoros.

Pittsburgh and Kansas City, the two most likely candidates for last place in the National and American Leagues, respectively, each recorded a victory.

The Pirates clipped Pedro Ramos, a Cuban righthander, for two runs in the 13th to outlast the Washington Senators 4-2 while the A's edged Baltimore 3-2.

The Chicago Cubs licked Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League 7-0 behind Bubba Church and Hal Jeffcoat, while the Pirates' B squad turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 with Dick Littlefield and Max Surkont handling the mound chores. The Red Sox's B team nipped the Braves' B's 8-7.

Heins Socks 562 In Tavern League

Eddie Heins topped the Tavern Association pinfall Saturday with 179-205-178 and 562 at the Central Rec lanes.

Three pins off the pace came Ed Auchmoody who crashed 206-559.

The other 500 bowlers included Charlie Bock with 539; Bill Johnson 204-511; Pop Auchmoody 530; Lou Scism 526; Fink McElrath 509 and Joe Lukas 510.

Middlecoff Takes St. Pete Open Golf

St. Petersburg, March 21 (AP)—Jay Hebert, the handsome Louisiana pro who says "it takes guts and a good grip" to be a winning golfer, learned from veteran Cary Middlecoff in the St. Petersburg Open yesterday that it also takes something else—tournament nerves and experience.

MIDDLECOFF CALMLY worked his way from a five-stroke deficit to a two-stroke victory over Hebert and $2,200 first prize.

Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist who now plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., posted a five-under-par 67 for a 72-hole total of 274. Hebert, who registers out of Woodmere, N. Y., took 74 for 276.

Another veteran of the golf trail, Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., made a great stretch drive, shooting the day's best round of 66 to shoot from 11th place into third with 277.

THE 32-YEAR-OLD Hebert, who had both the good grip and guts, held a three-stroke lead going into the final round.

But yesterday Hebert was edgy and uncertain. Middlecoff was cool and methodical.

The Louisiana golfer, who plans only a few of the winter tournaments, missed a two-foot putt on the first hole. He booted five more putts of less than three feet.

Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., won only $493 by tying for eighth place at 280 but it was enough to make him the year's top money winner with $10,785. The previous leader, Gene Littler of Palm Spring, Calif., finished out of the money. Littler has won $10,329.

Stokes Dominates

Dukes Win NIT Flag

New York, March 21 (AP)—All-America Dick Ricketts and Sihugo Green sparked Duquesne to its first National Invitation Basketball Tournament but it was lanky Maurice Stokes of little St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., who carried off the major individual honors.

Duquesne won its first NIT in nine attempts with a 70-58 decision over Dayton Saturday night after finishing fourth, third and second in the last three years.

RICKETTS AND GREEN both were selected for the Associated Press All-Tournament Team, after scoring 56 of the Dukes' points in the championship game. But Stokes, on the team that finished fourth after dropping a 96-91 overtime decision to Cincinnati, also was named on the all-star team and was a unanimous selection as the tournament's most valuable player.

Johnny Horan of Dayton and Ed Fleming of Niagara were picked to round out the all-star team.

Maurice the magnificent almost single handed carried St. Francis into the semifinal round. Coaches of pro teams eyed him with envy as he dominated the weeklong play.

Race Driver Killed

Langhorne, Pa., March 21 (AP)—Larry Crockett, 28-year-old racing car driver from Columbus, Ind., was killed yesterday in the 25-mile American Automobile Assn. Eastern Inaugural Sweepstakes. Crocket was moving up into a challenging position early in the race when his car spun out of control at Langhorne Speedway, crashed through a fence and rolled over into a field.

WHEN USING A LIGHT-HOOPED NET TO LAND A HEAVY FISH, GRASP THE HOOP OPPOSITE IT'S HANDLE SO HOOP WON'T BEND OR BREAK WHEN LIFTING THE FISH OUT OF THE WATER.

NET A FISH TAIL-FIRST IF IT IS HOOKED ON A LURE HAVING TREBLE HOOKS OUTSIDE FISH'S MOUTH. THIS PREVENTS THE HOOKS FROM SNAGGING IN THE NET'S TOP BEFORE FISH IS IN THE NET FOR A POSSIBLE ESCAPE. Forsts Drop HVBL Pair To Walden

Forsts Packing salvaged the middle game in its Hudson Valley Bowling League match with Walden Shopping Saturday night, with a six-pin edge, 930-924.

Walden, with Altopedi and Banerio going over the 600 mark with 227-223-637 and 201-205-604 blasts, took the opener and came back to cop the finale.

Larry Petersen, Jr., topped the pinfall for Forsts with 222-200 for 608. George Shufeldt followed with 213-573; George Robinson 226-563 and Whitey Crispell 538.

Milwaukee Shows Power Extending Streak to Three

(By The Associated Press)

While everyone is talking about the Cincinnati Reds' Murderers' Row, the Milwaukee Braves are quietly going about forming a real muscle machine of their own.

The likes of Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron will strike terror into many a pitcher's heart before the coming season is over. In fact, clubs that must meet the Redlegs and Braves in successive series will have their work cut out for them.

Both the Braves and Redlegs chalked up exhibition conquests yesterday via the sudden-death route in the fashion of the old New York Yankees.

The Braves won their third in a row by edging the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 when Adcock broke it up with a home run over the left field fence in the eighth inning. Earlier, Aaron slapped one over the same wall with a runner aboard.

THE CARDS made all their runs in the first inning when they got to Lew Burdette for four straight hits.

The Chicago White Sox got a taste of the raw power generated by the Redlegs. With the score tied in the ninth, the Redlegs came up with four runs to smash it wide open. Wally Post hit two home runs along the way for Birdie Tebbetts' club, while Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell delivered run-scoring hits in the big ninth.

The Boston Red Sox continued to get good pitching—this time from big Hank Sullivan, the bellwether of the staff last year as a sophomore. The Sox polished off the Detroit Tigers 10-3 with Sullivan hurling five innings and giving up just one hit. He has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings on the mound this spring.

It was like old times in Los Angeles where the New York Giants continued their mastery over the Cleveland Indians 7-3. Dusty Rhodes, Leo Durocher's pinch hitter extraordinary, poled a pinch-home run with one on off Mike Garcia to highlight a five-run seventh inning.

JOHNNY ANTONELLI pitched five runless innings for the Giants.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, who appear to be trying to set a record for overtime exhibitions, played their second extra-inning game in less than 24 hours. The Brooks won this one 9-8 in 10 innings. Rookie Dodger shortstop Chico Fernandez got three hits, including a double in the 10th. He then scored the winning run on a single by Sandy Amoros.

Pittsburgh and Kansas City, the two most likely candidates for last place in the National and American Leagues, respectively, each recorded a victory.

The Pirates clipped Pedro Ramos, a Cuban righthander, for two runs in the 13th to outlast the Washington Senators 4-2 while the A's edged Baltimore 3-2.

The Chicago Cubs licked Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League 7-0 behind Bubba Church and Hal Jeffcoat, while the Pirates' B squad turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 with Dick Littlefield and Max Surkont handling the mound chores. The Red Sox's B team nipped the Braves' B's 8-7.

Eddie Heins topped the Tavern Association pinfall Saturday with 179-205-178 and 562 at the Central Rec lanes.

Three pins off the pace came Ed Auchmoody who crashed 206-559.

The other 500 bowlers included Charlie Bock with 539; Bill Johnson 204-511; Pop Auchmoody 530; Lou Scism 526; Fink McElrath 509 and Joe Lukas 510.

Bill Guldy opened with 200 and finished with 473; Hank Bailey 483; F. Bayone 468; Al Wood, Jr., 491; Al Wood, Sr., 486; Claude Markle 480; Jack Hogan 473; Emile Jordan 455; John Brady 461; Ed Auclair 464; Andy Krom 493; Jerry Smith 474; Bob Felton 472 and Bob Gorsline 468.

Middlecoff Takes St. Pete Open Golf

St. Petersburg, March 21 (AP)—Jay Hebert, the handsome Louisiana pro who says "it takes guts and a good grip" to be a winning golfer, learned from veteran Cary Middlecoff in the St. Petersburg Open yesterday that it also takes something else—tournament nerves and experience.

MIDDLECOFF CALMLY worked his way from a five-stroke deficit to a two-stroke victory over Hebert and $2,200 first prize.

Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist who now plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., posted a five-under-par 67 for a 72-hole total of 274. Hebert, who registers out of Woodmere, N. Y., took 74 for 276.

Another veteran of the golf trail, Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., made a great stretch drive, shooting the day's best round of 66 to shoot from 11th place into third with 277.

THE 32-YEAR-OLD Hebert, who had both the good grip and guts, held a three-stroke lead going into the final round.

But yesterday Hebert was edgy and uncertain. Middlecoff was cool and methodical.

The Louisiana golfer, who plans only a few of the winter tournaments, missed a two-foot putt on the first hole. He booted five more putts of less than three feet.

Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., won only $493 by tying for eighth place at 280 but it was enough to make him the year's top money winner with $10,785. The previous leader, Gene Littler of Palm Spring, Calif., finished out of the money. Littler has won $10,329.

Stokes Dominates

Dukes Win NIT Flag

New York, March 21 (AP)—All-America Dick Ricketts and Sihugo Green sparked Duquesne to its first National Invitation Basketball Tournament but it was lanky Maurice Stokes of little St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., who carried off the major individual honors.

Duquesne won its first NIT in nine attempts with a 70-58 decision over Dayton Saturday night after finishing fourth, third and second in the last three years.

RICKETTS AND GREEN both were selected for the Associated Press All-Tournament Team, after scoring 56 of the Dukes' points in the championship game. LANDING NET TIPS

WHEN USING A LIGHT-HOOPED NET TO LAND A HEAVY FISH, GRASP THE HOOP OPPOSITE ITS HANDLE SO HOOP WON'T BEND OR BREAK WHEN LIFTING THE FISH OUT OF THE WATER.

NET A FISH TAIL-FIRST IF IT IS HOOKED ON A LURE HAVING TREBLE HOOKS OUTSIDE FISH'S MOUTH. THIS PREVENTS THE HOOKS FROM SNAGGING IN THE NET'S TOP BEFORE FISH IS IN THE NET FOR A POSSIBLE ESCAPE. BE SURE THE NET IS COMPLETELY SUBMERGED UNDER THE FISH, AND HOLD THE FISH'S HEAD ABOVE THE SURFACE AS YOU LIFT THE NET.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

If one is stuck for a phone number, call Information and you get the "info." The operator does not advise you what to do with the information — that's up your alley.

Now, here is some "info" respecting your tax moneys, and it's up your alley!

Mr. Hutton

Since 1948, Uncle Sam has spent about $450,000,000 for European "talkie-talkie" propaganda. Did it buy friendship?

If you owe a friend money and you cannot pay — when you see him, you duck across the street, if possible. To lend money is to lose friends.

A case in point — England and France — are they our friends? Since 1940 England has received from Uncle Sam, in round figures, $36,670,000,000 in grants, loans and Lend-Lease, not including the carry over from World War 1, of about $5,600,000,000.

And, to France, in round figures, has gone $7,600,000,000. Are they our friends? I have been there — and, would say the majority are not.

The London Mirror claims 4,000,000 circulation. It has stated that, three out of five Britishers are either hostile or indifferent to the United States. Why? Because they owe us!

"The Mirror" further states: "We distrust your ability, judgment and experience — and, don't like the way you push us around."

Neighbor, that's a flimsy excuse!

GOP Leaders

mobiles on the highways must be approved for safety by Sept. 1.

IN A LETTER to the governor, Mayor Donald W. Kramer of Binghamton, chairman of the Bar Association's Highway Safety Committee, said:

"I feel it advisable to let you know that the State Bar is strongly in favor of some form of compulsory inspection for automobiles to insure their safety for use upon the highways."

If there are any defects in the inspection law, Kramer went on, they should "be cured by amendment rather than by repeal of the law."

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS:

1. It was reported that Democratic leaders would support measures to give $7,400,000 in tax relief to working mothers, the aged, the ill and the blind in 1956.

2. Heck and Mahoney endorsed a move to permit the State Dormitory Authority to finance student housing at private colleges, upon request from the colleges.

3. Sen. George T. Manning of Rochester, author of the State's Weight-Distance Tax Law, contended that truckers were trying to get rid of State weighing stations by seeking repeal of the law.

Manning, a Republican who heads the Joint Legislative Committee on Carrier Taxation, said the weighing stations had uncovered 52,964 violations in 1954 of a law limiting truck loads.

Four Are Hurt In Local Mishaps

Four persons were injured slightly in three city traffic mishaps and a driver was arrested on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and for another violation over the weekend.

Four vehicles were involved in an accident at Broadway and Brewster street in which the four were injured and a light pole was knocked down Saturday night. The car driven by the arrested driver had struck a tree, trash can and damaged a car.

George W. Sherry, 78, of 62 VanBuren street, was arrested Sunday by Officers Raymond Wells and John Houghtaling on Lucas avenue on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, and for having an improper license plate. He pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today, was fined $25, his license was revoked, and the plate confiscated.

IT WAS INDICATED that the defendant had forgotten to properly transfer the plate after purchasing a car.

Police noted the first report of damage at 2:18 p. m., Sunday when a call from 128 Washington avenue, said a car ran over the curb, struck a trash can and tree near that address, and continued north on Washington avenue.

At 2:25 p. m., Mrs. Arnold Adams, of 10 Linderman avenue, reported that the family car had been struck and damaged.

A license number was forwarded to the police, and it was indicated that the car had gone out Lucas avenue where it stopped at the gasoline station near the city line. Part of a fender of the Sherry car had been found near that mishap, the report said.

SHERRY INDICATED to the police that he thought he had heard noises, but was unaware of the damage.

Officers George Dohnken and Edward Edwards reported at 11:47 p. m., Saturday that the vehicles involved at the mishap on Broadway at Brewster street were the sedan of Michael J. Tiano, RD, Flatbush, operated by Michael C. Tiano, 20, of the same address; the sedan of Edward Reilly, 22, of 37 Stuyvesant street, the sedan of Joseph Esposito, 25, of Hurley and the panel truck of Sherman Adin, 25, of 96 McEntee street.

The Tiano car was passing the Reilly car on an inside lane, and struck the Esposito car, the report said. The Reilly car swerved to the left and struck the truck. The Esposito car was parked near 361 Broadway.

THE TIANO CAR continued on and knocked down a street light pole and electric wires. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was notified and the Public Works Department was called to clean up glass and other debris.

Michael C. Tiano suffered a cut on the forehead, and Reilly, Carmela Esposito, 33, of 17 Crane street, and Jean Esposito, 25, of Hurley, were reported "shaken up." They were to be treated by doctors.

The Tiano and Reilly cars were towed from the scene, the report said. Lt. James P. Martin, of the local police, who was on vacation, was at the scene and Officers Sheldon O'Rourke and Francis Buchanan assisted with traffic.

Police were notified at 9:35 p. m., Saturday that a car was stuck in the middle of First avenue near Devil's Lake. Officers George Dohnken and Edward Edwards went there and reported that the street was in bad condition and should be closed. The Public Works Department was notified. James B. Catanzariti, of 132 Second avenue, reported Sunday that the car was his. It was towed from the area.

Tax Relief

last summer by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. They were included in the Republican state platform last fall.

The first bill, sponsored by Sen. Frank S. McCullough, Rye Republican, would:

Permit a taxpayer to deduct from his income tax medical expenses amounting to more than three per cent of his net income. Under present law expenses amounting to more than five per cent of income may be deducted.

INCREASE THE MAXIMUM deduction for medical expense from $1,500 to $2,500 for husbands and wives filing joint returns, and for heads of families.

Increase the maximum medical deduction for individuals from $750 to $1,000.

The second bill, introduced by Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, would:

Permit working mothers and widowers to deduct from their returns expenses for care of children or stepchildren under 12 or dependents unable to care for themselves, up to a limit of $600.

THAT WOULD APPLY only to taxpayers whose family incomes were less than $5,000 a year. Taxpayers now are granted a $400 deduction for each dependent. Deductions for child care would be in addition to that.

The third measure, offered by Sen. Walter W. Van Wiggeren, Herkimer Republican, would:

Provide a $500 extra exemption for any taxpayer who is blind or more than 65 years of age. An individual now is entitled to a $1,000 personal exemption, and a taxpayer who is married or head of a family receives a $2,500 personal deduction.

Boy Gives His Reason

Milwaukee, March 21 (AP)—An 8-year-old boy started a fire in church to "get even with God." Deputy State Fire Marshal William Rositer said the boy told him yesterday his father had been drinking heavily and staying away from home. The boy said he prayed but his father didn't come home so he decided to "get even with God." The fire caused $200 damage to sacristy cabinets at St. Stanislaus Church and possible smoke damage to murals and other decorations. The boy was turned over to his mother.

Rape Charge Is Cause of Arrest

John Lee Burris, 20, of 581 Broadway, was arrested Saturday by County Investigator Arthur Brown and Detective Frank Sammons on a rape charge.

Arraigned before City Judge Raymond J. Mino Saturday, he pleaded innocent, and was paroled in custody of his attorney, Sherwood E. Davis, for appearance March 23.

Authorities said the complainant is a 17-year-old local girl, and the charge dates back to last summer.

LOUIS J. GERBON, 41, of Woodstock, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Salvatore Porteuse, of Glenford, on a third degree assault charge. The arrest followed a call for police to Sterling Studios on Wall street. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr. and Meyer Levy responded.

Attorney Charles H. Gaffney appeared for the defendant before Judge Mino today. He pleaded innocent and the case was put over to April 2.

ROBERT EDWARD NORTON, 30, of 70 Green street, was arrested early today on Prospect street on charges of speeding and having a cardboard in the window of the car on the driver's side as an obstruction of view. He pleaded innocent today through his attorney, Hubert A. Richter, and the case was put over for a week.

Attorney Louis A. DiDonna appeared for the district attorney's office in all cases today.

Report Is Given

amounted to about $412,000, making a net decline of $337,000.

THE COMMISSION reported that the cost of electric service to most residential consumers in the state "is now substantially below that of 1940."

Higher wholesale prices for natural gas purchased by local utilities from interstate pipelines added $2,072,000 to the rates of some of the companies. Reductions totaling $1,568,000 for customers of other gas utilities brought the net increase in gas rates for the year to approximately $504,000.

The report said the supply of natural gas had improved substantially throughout the state, providing greater assurance of adequate service.

The PSC said that telephone, electric, gas, water and transportation utilities had spent close to 500 million dollars on new construction and improvements last year. The commission authorized $417,732,000 in securities to finance these expansion programs.

The largest dollar increase requested last year was $68,500,000 by the New York Telephone Co., which provides about 95 per cent of the telephone service in the state. After a rate proceeding lasting eight months, the commission denied the company's application.

Pigeon Is Trapped

A pigeon apparently became trapped after venturing downward in a chimney at 120 Fair street Sunday afternoon. Firemen were called at 3:30 p. m. Wiltwyck station responded, and firemen said efforts to get the bird free failed apparently because it was a 'blind" chimney. A call at 9:35 a. m., yesterday to a house owned by David Popick at 473 Washington avenue was for a chimney fire, and one at 10:45 a. m., was for a grass fire near the Martin-Moran garage off the East Chester street by-pass.

Big 4 Parley

sibility in positive terms once German rearmament is approved.

Prospects for American support of a top level conference doubtless would be brightened should a foreign ministers' session produce constructive results.

Expressing a belief a top level conference would lead to "adjustments moving toward a more normal world," George said in an NBC television interview:

"I think that we have reached the point where we should try."

GEORGE SUGGESTED a meeting be held "as soon as practical" but only after full ratification of agreements to rearm West Germany as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Western European Union.

After the broadcast, George said in response to a question he does not believe Red China should attend such a meeting.

World attention has been focused on the subject of big power meetings in recent days by the State Department's release of hitherto secret U. S. records of the Yalta conference. Chiefs of the United States, Russia, and Great Britain attended the Yalta sessions in February 1945.

George said publication of the Yalta papers was "unfortunate," because he said it might hamper "the freest possible discussion" at such meetings in the future.

State department sources said the administration would want advance assurances a new meeting would produce results and would not become a propaganda sounding board for Russia.

George has no direct voice in administration decisions but he and Secretary Dulles confer frequently in efforts to promote bipartisanship in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

If one is stuck for a phone number, call Information and you get the "info." The operator does not advise you what to do with the information — that's up your alley.

Now, here is some "info" respecting your tax moneys, and it's up your alley!

Mr. Hutton

Since 1948, Uncle Sam has spent about $450,000,000 for European "talkie-talkie" propaganda. Did it buy friendship?

If you owe a friend money and you cannot pay — when you see him, you duck across the street, if possible. To lend money is to lose friends.

A case in point — England and France — are they our friends? Since 1940 England has received from Uncle Sam, in round figures, $36,670,000,000 in grants, loans and Lend-Lease, not including the carry over from World War 1, of about $5,600,000,000.

And, to France, in round figures, has gone $7,600,000,000. Are they our friends? I have been there — and, would say the majority are not.

The London Mirror claims 4,000,000 circulation. It has stated that, three out of five Britishers are either hostile or indifferent to the United States. Why? Because they owe us!

"The Mirror" further states: "We distrust your ability, judgment and experience — and, don't like the way you push us around."

Neighbor, that's a flimsy excuse!

GOP Leaders

mobiles on the highways must be approved for safety by Sept. 1.

IN A LETTER to the governor, Mayor Donald W. Kramer of Binghamton, chairman of the Bar Association's Highway Safety Committee, said:

"I feel it advisable to let you know that the State Bar is strongly in favor of some form of compulsory inspection for automobiles to insure their safety for use upon the highways."

If there are any defects in the inspection law, Kramer went on, they should "be cured by amendment rather than by repeal of the law."

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS:

1. It was reported that Democratic leaders would support measures to give $7,400,000 in tax relief to working mothers, the aged, the ill and the blind in 1956.

2. Heck and Mahoney endorsed a move to permit the State Dormitory Authority to finance student housing at private colleges, upon request from the colleges.

3. Sen. George T. Manning of Rochester, author of the State's Weight-Distance Tax Law, contended that truckers were trying to get rid of State weighing stations by seeking repeal of the law.

Manning, a Republican who heads the Joint Legislative Committee on Carrier Taxation, said the weighing stations had uncovered 52,964 violations in 1954 of a law limiting truck loads.

Four Are Hurt In Local Mishaps

Four persons were injured slightly in three city traffic mishaps and a driver was arrested on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and for another violation over the weekend.

Four vehicles were involved in an accident at Broadway and Brewster street in which the four were injured and a light pole was knocked down Saturday night. The car driven by the arrested driver had struck a tree, trash can and damaged a car.

George W. Sherry, 78, of 62 VanBuren street, was arrested Sunday by Officers Raymond Wells and John Houghtaling on Lucas avenue on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, and for having an improper license plate. He pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today, was fined $25, his license was revoked, and the plate confiscated.

IT WAS INDICATED that the defendant had forgotten to properly transfer the plate after purchasing a car.

Police noted the first report of damage at 2:18 p. m., Sunday when a call from 128 Washington avenue, said a car ran over the curb, struck a trash can and tree near that address, and continued north on Washington avenue.

At 2:25 p. m., Mrs. Arnold Adams, of 10 Linderman avenue, reported that the family car had been struck and damaged.

A license number was forwarded to the police, and it was indicated that the car had gone out Lucas avenue where it stopped at the gasoline station near the city line. Part of a fender of the Sherry car had been found near that mishap, the report said.

SHERRY INDICATED to the police that he thought he had heard noises, but was unaware of the damage.

Officers George Dohnken and Edward Edwards reported at 11:47 p. m., Saturday that the vehicles involved at the mishap on Broadway at Brewster street were the sedan of Michael J. Tiano, RD, Flatbush, operated by Michael C. Tiano, 20, of the same address; the sedan of Edward Reilly, 22, of 37 Stuyvesant street, the sedan of Joseph Esposito, 25, of Hurley and the panel truck of Sherman Adin, 25, of 96 McEntee street.

The Tiano car was passing the Reilly car on an inside lane, and struck the Esposito car, the report said. The Reilly car swerved to the left and struck the truck. The Esposito car was parked near 361 Broadway.

THE TIANO CAR continued on and knocked down a street light pole and electric wires. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was notified and the Public Works Department was called to clean up glass and other debris.

Michael C. Tiano suffered a cut on the forehead, and Reilly, Carmela Esposito, 33, of 17 Crane street, and Jean Esposito, 25, of Hurley, were reported "shaken up." They were to be treated by doctors.

The Tiano and Reilly cars were towed from the scene, the report said. Lt. James P. Martin, of the local police, who was on vacation, was at the scene and Officers Sheldon O'Rourke and Francis Buchanan assisted with traffic.

Police were notified at 9:35 p. m., Saturday that a car was stuck in the middle of First avenue near Devil's Lake. Officers George Dohnken and Edward Edwards went there and reported that the street was in bad condition and should be closed. The Public Works Department was notified. James B. Catanzariti, of 132 Second avenue, reported Sunday that the car was his. It was towed from the area.

Tax Relief

last summer by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. They were included in the Republican state platform last fall.

The first bill, sponsored by Sen. Frank S. McCullough, Rye Republican, would:

Permit a taxpayer to deduct from his income tax medical expenses amounting to more than three per cent of his net income. Under present law expenses amounting to more than five per cent of income may be deducted.

INCREASE THE MAXIMUM deduction for medical expense from $1,500 to $2,500 for husbands and wives filing joint returns, and for heads of families.

Increase the maximum medical deduction for individuals from $750 to $1,000.

The second bill, introduced by Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, would:

Permit working mothers and widowers to deduct from their returns expenses for care of children or stepchildren under 12 or dependents unable to care for themselves, up to a limit of $600.

THAT WOULD APPLY only to taxpayers whose family incomes were less than $5,000 a year. Taxpayers now are granted a $400 deduction for each dependent. Deductions for child care would be in addition to that.

The third measure, offered by Sen. Walter W. Van Wiggeren, Herkimer Republican, would:

Provide a $500 extra exemption for any taxpayer who is blind or more than 65 years of age. An individual now is entitled to a $1,000 personal exemption, and a taxpayer who is married or head of a family receives a $2,500 personal deduction.

Boy Gives His Reason

Milwaukee, March 21 (AP)—An 8-year-old boy started a fire in church to "get even with God." Deputy State Fire Marshal William Rositer said the boy told him yesterday his father had been drinking heavily and staying away from home. The boy said he prayed but his father didn't come home so he decided to "get even with God." The fire caused $200 damage to sacristy cabinets at St. Stanislaus Church and possible smoke damage to murals and other decorations. The boy was turned over to his mother.

Rape Charge Is Cause of Arrest

John Lee Burris, 20, of 581 Broadway, was arrested Saturday by County Investigator Arthur Brown and Detective Frank Sammons on a rape charge.

Arraigned before City Judge Raymond J. Mino Saturday, he pleaded innocent, and was paroled in custody of his attorney, Sherwood E. Davis, for appearance March 23.

Authorities said the complainant is a 17-year-old local girl, and the charge dates back to last summer.

LOUIS J. GERBON, 41, of Woodstock, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Salvatore Porteuse, of Glenford, on a third degree assault charge. The arrest followed a call for police to Sterling Studios on Wall street. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr. and Meyer Levy responded.

Attorney Charles H. Gaffney appeared for the defendant before Judge Mino today. He pleaded innocent and the case was put over to April 2.

ROBERT EDWARD NORTON, 30, of 70 Green street, was arrested early today on Prospect street on charges of speeding and having a cardboard in the window of the car on the driver's side as an obstruction of view. He pleaded innocent today through his attorney, Hubert A. Richter, and the case was put over for a week.

Attorney Louis A. DiDonna appeared for the district attorney's office in all cases today.

Report Is Given

amounted to about $412,000, making a net decline of $337,000.

THE COMMISSION reported that the cost of electric service to most residential consumers in the state "is now substantially below that of 1940."

Higher wholesale prices for natural gas purchased by local utilities from interstate pipelines added $2,072,000 to the rates of some of the companies. Reductions totaling $1,568,000 for customers of other gas utilities brought the net increase in gas rates for the year to approximately $504,000.

The report said the supply of natural gas had improved substantially throughout the state, providing greater assurance of adequate service.

The PSC said that telephone, electric, gas, water and transportation utilities had spent close to 500 million dollars on new construction and improvements last year. The commission authorized $417,732,000 in securities to finance these expansion programs.

The largest dollar increase requested last year was $68,500,000 by the New York Telephone Co., which provides about 95 per cent of the telephone service in the state. After a rate proceeding lasting eight months, the commission denied the company's application.

Pigeon Is Trapped

A pigeon apparently became trapped after venturing downward in a chimney at 120 Fair street Sunday afternoon. Firemen were called at 3:30 p. m. Wiltwyck station responded, and firemen said efforts to get the bird free failed apparently because it was a "blind" chimney. A call at 9:35 a. m., yesterday to a house owned by David Popick at 473 Washington avenue was for a chimney fire, and one at 10:45 a. m., was for a grass fire near the Martin-Moran garage off the East Chester street by-pass.

sibility in positive terms once German rearmament is approved.

Prospects for American support of a top level conference doubtless would be brightened should a foreign ministers' session produce constructive results.

Expressing a belief a top level conference would lead to "adjustments moving toward a more normal world," George said in an NBC television interview:

"I think that we have reached the point where we should try."

GEORGE SUGGESTED a meeting be held "as soon as practical" but only after full ratification of agreements to rearm West Germany as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Western European Union.

After the broadcast, George said in response to a question he does not believe Red China should attend such a meeting.

World attention has been focused on the subject of big power meetings in recent days by the State Department's release of hitherto secret U. S. records of the Yalta conference. Chiefs of the United States, Russia, and Great Britain attended the Yalta sessions in February 1945.

George said publication of the Yalta papers was "unfortunate," because he said it might hamper "the freest possible discussion" at such meetings in the future.

State department sources said the administration would want advance assurances a new meeting would produce results and would not become a propaganda sounding board for Russia.

George has no direct voice in administration decisions but he and Secretary Dulles confer frequently in efforts to promote bipartisanship in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Faces Forgery Trial

Margaret Ann Robbins, 18, of Newburgh, was arrested in Kingston on Saturday by sheriff's department men with a bench warrant issued by County Judge John M. Cashin on the basis of a sealed indictment charging her with second degree forgery. She was taken to the Ulster county jail to be held pending trial on the charge.

Conscience Causes Man to Confess 5-Year Homicide

New York, March 21 (AP)—Sidney Jackson says his conscience bothered him about a five-year-old holdup-murder so much that he was driven to turning himself in.

After he got authorities to listen to him in the criminal courts building yesterday, he said it hadn't been easy to make anyone believe him.

The 34-year-old longshoreman got Vincent Nigro, a court attendant, and Milton Lewin, an Associated Press reporter, to listen to him yesterday. They took him to a magistrate and notified an assistant district attorney.

A LITTLE LATER, Jackson was booked on a homicide charge, accused of "acting in concert" with another man, still at large, in the fatal shooting of Samuel Jones.

Jackson claimed that in 1950 he and another man, whom he knew only as "James" and never saw again, help up a grocery store.

He said the other man fired a shot that killed the clerk.

Checking records, police said, they linked Jackson's story with the murder of Jones.

"It was the only wrong thing I ever did in my life," Jackson said. "I was forced to do it. I was broke."

Jackson said he is married but is estranged from his wife, who lives in Jamaica, Queens, with their four children.

Phantom Burglar Will Stand Trial

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The state is scheduled to place Gilbert Mead, a so-called "phantom burglar" of Stamford, Conn., on trial today on charges of killing his wife and her male companion, at Hollywood, Fla., last Dec. 5.

Ed McMurrow, Mead's court-appointed attorney, said he would ask for a change of venue when the case comes up in Broward Circuit Court. He said he would base the request on "sensational newspaper publicity and a lurid story in a detective magazine published this week."

The burly, balding defendant has entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

MRS. MEAD and her companion, Dominick Albanizio, were killed in their sleep by an intruder. An alarm was broadcast for her husband and he was captured here several days later.

Richard Dimon, Mrs. Mead's son by a former marriage, escaped from the house when the intruder broke into the modest house at Hllywood. He ran next door and summoned aid.

When police officers arrived, they found Mrs. Mead shot to death and Albanizio dead from head wounds.

Mead has a police record in Connecticut and had escaped from two parole officers when the murders occurred.

The hospital said the operation was performed during the weekend but gave no other details. The 57-year-old entertainer is the wife of Boris Alperovici.
